BRISTOW GETS ANOTHER JOB

His Supposed Humiliation Turns Out to Be a Compliment.

TO EXAMINE TRAFFIC

Former Postal Official Will Determine Best Policy for Panama Railroad.

ACCEPTS PRESIDENT'S OFFER

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Joseph L. Bristow, fourth assistant postmaster general, today tendered to the president his resignation as an officer of the postal service to take effect on the 20th inst. By an executive order issued late this afternoon President Roosevelt designated Mr. Bristow as a special commissioner to make an investigation into the present trade conditions and freight rates between the Atlantic and Pacific coasts and between the west coast of South America and the east coast of the United States and Europe, to determine the best policy of managing the Panama railroad.

The announcement came at the conclusion of an extended conference today between the president, Secretary Taft, Mr. Bristow and Senator Long of Kansas. The text of the order issued by the president follows:

"It is ordered that Joseph L. Bristow of Kansas be appointed a special commissioner for the purpose of visiting the ports of the Pacific coast, the Isthmus of Panama, New York and such other ports as may be necessary to make an investigation into the present trade conditions and freight rates between the Atlantic and Pacific coasts across the Isthmus of Panama and between the west coast of South America and the east coast of the United States and Europe, for the purpose of determining the best policy to be pursued in the management of the Panama Railroad Company.

Provides for Compensation.

"He is authorized to employ for this purpose a stenographer at not exceeding $5 a day and his actual and necessary expenses, and to take evidence of all persons whose knowledge of trade conditions or rates will assist in reaching the necessary conclusion.

"The secretary of war will furnish to the special commissioner a letter of instructions, in detail, as to the course and extent of his investigation and as to the time when he shall report conclusions.

"Until his report is forthcoming the commissioner will be allowed his actual expenses and $15 a day. The president will finally fix his entire compensation. As Mr. Bristow will need until January 20, 1905, to close up matters awaiting his disposition as fourth assistant postmaster general, this order will take effect on that date. The isthmian canal commission is directed to provide the funds needed in the execution of this order.

(Signed) "THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

Secretary Taft's Suggestion.

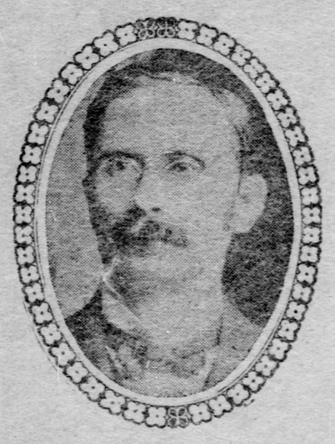
After the conference at the White House Senator Long said that the transfer of Mr. Bristow from the postoffice department to work in connection with the proposed isthmian canal had been under consideration for a long time.

"Secretary Taft," said the senator,



Joseph L. Bristow.

"desired to utilize Mr. Bristow's services in connection with the work of constructing the canal, and has had the idea in mind of appointing him a commissioner to investigate trade and freight conditions ever since he returned from the isthmus of Panama. The president readily acceded to Secretary Taft's suggestion, and, as the work will be entirely congenial, Mr. Bristow has accepted the new position."

Mr. Bristow has had interviews with the president and Secretary Taft regarding the matter, but his final determination was not reached until today. His decision to accept the special commissionership was hastened, it is understood, by the transfer yesterday of the division of postoffice inspectors from the bureau of the fourth assistant postmaster general to the direct control of the postmaster general himself. Mr. Bristow regarded the issuance of the order of transfer of the division as a reflection upon him. That the order as to the inspectors' division was not issued with the idea of humiliating Mr. Bristow is evidenced by the president's action today.

LANCE ROBBERIES END IN KILLING

VICTIMS ONCE TORTURED

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

MONACA, PA., Jan. 13.—A telephone message received late this evening by Coroner J. R. Gormley indicates that a tragedy has finally put an end to the series of robberies at the Lance home in Hanover township, where three visits have been made by desperadoes within six months and four inside of two years. The message to the coroner states that when the two men who have terrorized the Lance family for several years came again this afternoon they were seen in time by William McHenry, a guard, and one of them was shot dead.

The house occupied by Abram and Jas. Lance and their sister, Sarah Lance—all more than 75 years old—is about 19 miles from here. It is an old log structure, a mile and a half from any highway and two miles from the nearest house. When the house was visited by robbers six months ago the aged people were tortured and forced to reveal the location of about $1,000, which the men took. Smaller sums were obtained in the two preceding robberies. After the third robbery William McHenry was employed to work about the farm and to act as guard. McHenry slept in a room in the barn. Last Saturday two men, supposed to have been the same ones who had already tortured and robbed the Lances, gained admittance to the house on the pretext that they wanted to get warm. After sitting by the fire for a while they demanded money and threatened torture if it was not produced. McHenry saw it was useless to fight, and the men were told where a pocket book lay on a mantel. This, with a small sum of money in it, the pair took and then left. It is said that as they departed they declared they would return in two weeks, and there must be $1,000 ready for them.

McHenry, who has been in the habit of going armed, redoubled his vigilance after this incident and when the robbers came this afternoon he was ready for them, and before they could attempt to overpower him he had shot and killed one of the pair. The other fled. Coroner Gormley, accompanied by an officer, will go to Hanover township in the morning to hold an inquest. It is believed that McHenry will be absolved from all blame. The Lance family are wealthy and are large dealers in cattle. The remoteness of their home has made them an easy prey for robbers.

McHenry is wealthy, having been an operator in the Shamokin field. Although reported to be a hired guard, it is believed here he may have been serving out of sympathy for the Lances.

CUNEO WILL TRY TO HAVE PRIEST PUNISHED

Not Seeking to Have Son's Marriage Annulled—Does Not Blame Young Wife.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—Although he has forgiven his son, Frank Cuneo, the wealthy wholesale fruit dealer, is still vexed with the action of the Rev. J. J. O'Meara of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, who last Tuesday married young Cuneo and Miss Florence Hill, the young couple afterwards being arrested in Pittsburgh. Mr. Cuneo said today that he would take the matter before Archbishop Quigley in an effort to have Father O'Meara reprimanded.

"The boy is married, and that's all there is to it," said Cuneo, "but I'm not through with Father O'Meara. He has virtually abrogated the canons of the church in being a party to the affair, and I am going to see that he is disciplined. It is simply a case of sentiment blinding duty."

The fire is still not under control.

To Enforce Judges' Salary Act If He Has to Use Troops.

HAS QUIT FOOLING

Directs Peremptory Writ of Mandamus on State Treasurer Mathues.

IS NOT A FEDERAL AFFAIR

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Press Building, PHILADELPHIA, PA., Jan. 13.

Attorney General Hampton L. Carson has decided there shall be no more legal quibbling over the payment to judges of the money due them under the legislative act increasing their salaries. He thought when the supreme court confirmed the constitutionality of the act there would be no more trouble, but a petition was filed later by J. W. M. Newlin, taking the matter into the United States circuit court.

Today, Mr. Carson announced that he had directed a writ of peremptory mandamus against the state treasurer.

"The United States court has no right to interfere in the matter," declared Mr. Carson. "It pertains wholly to Pennsylvania. Here is a state law directing a state officer to pay certain salaries to other state officers. The Dauphin county court decided the law was constitutional, and awarded judgment. The supreme court of Pennsylvania has confirmed that decision, and no power on earth can interfere with the execution of that judgment. It belongs to the commonwealth, whose officer I am, and I intend to have that judgment satisfied if it takes regiments of soldiers to do it."

Mr. Carson today authorized the following statement:

"In the matter of the judges' salaries, an hour ago I directed a writ of peremptory mandamus to be issued against the state treasurer, and by this time the writ is issued. If the writ is disputed it will be followed by proceedings in contempt. I shall not permit disobedience to the judgment of the court of Dauphin county, which has been affirmed by the supreme court.

"The judgment must and shall be enforced. It cannot be interfered with by any other court, federal or state. It cannot be set aside or suspended by proceedings anywhere. It is the judgment of the court of last resort in this state, speaking on a question of state constitutional law, and no court of the United States has anything to do with it. I don't care what advice has been given by counsel for the state treasurer, nor do I care what notices Mr. Newlin has served. The law is the law, and must be obeyed."

MAY BUY CITY GAS WORKS.

Rumor United Improvement Company Is After the Philadelphia Plant.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 13.—(Special.)—The municipal gas works of Philadelphia may soon be sold to the United Gas Improvement Company. No one in an official capacity in the company would admit that any such deal was contemplated, but persons who have financial relations with the company said that this was the plan. The report was current in stock exchange quarters today.

It was stated that a bill would go through the legislature permitting the sale, and that an issue of new stock of the United Gas Improvement Company would pay the city for the plant.

PENSION VACANCY FILLED.

President Roosevelt Has Appointed Congressman Warner of Illinois as Commissioner.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—The president has appointed Vespasian Warner to be commissioner of pensions. Mr. Warner is now a member of congress from Illinois and was re-elected last November for the fifth term and was strongly indorsed by the state delegation in congress and by prominent members of the Grand Army of the Republic and other organizations of ex-soldiers. The appointment will go to the senate tomorrow.

TWO CANDIDATES FOR TREASURER

Western Counties Have Aspirants for Place on Republican State Ticket.

CLARK AND MORRISON IN FIELD

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Room 10, Postal Building, WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 13.

According to advices received here there are already two candidates for state treasurer of Pennsylvania in the field, subject to the decision of the Republican state convention next summer. It has been determined by the organization that the candidate must come from the western tier of counties, as stated in these dispatches some weeks ago in an interview with Senator Penrose.

One of the candidates now after the nomination is from Washington county and the other is from Mercer county. The Washington county man is J. Verner Clark, Republican county chairman, and formerly sheriff of the county. He has been active in politics and has strong backing. Mr. Clark will come to Washington in the near future and talk the matter over with Senator Penrose, Representative Acheson and other Pennsylvania Republican leaders.

Mercer county's candidate is Levi Morrison, editor of the Greenville Argus, who has served three terms in the legislature. Two years ago he was a candidate for the nomination for state treasurer and is said to be again willing to run.

The announcement that Prof. A. C. McLean, principal of the Luckey school, is a candidate for city controller of Pittsburgh on the Republican ticket, is good news to his friends here. Prof. McLean came from Mercer county and all of that clan represented here in the capitol hope he will run.

Maj. McDowell of Sharon said today:

"Prof. McLean is one of the finest men that ever came out of Mercer county, and that is saying a good deal. I am glad to hear that the Republicans are thinking of nominating him for controller, and if they do I feel sure that he will be elected. He surely deserves to be. I have known him for many years and I cannot speak too highly of his intelligence and his sterling integrity. He is the right sort."

UNITED STATES COURTS ARE NEEDED IN CHINA

President Recommends Establishing Tribunals in the Far East.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—The president today transmitted to the senate a recommendation from the secretary of state for the establishment of a district court of the United States for China and Korea, together with bills intended to carry it into effect. The letter of Secretary Hay says the present counseller courts are inadequate. He says that even if the consular officers were trained lawyers they would not have time to devote to the legal questions which come before them. The secretary add:

"The interests of justice require and the rights of American citizens in those countries demand that the legal controversies arising there affecting their interests should be adjudicated in properly conducted courts presided over by competent and duly qualified judges."

The court is to hold sessions at Shanghai, Canton, Tien-Tsin and Seoul and other places that may be designated from time to time. The judge and the other officials of the court are to be appointed by the president, the judge to receive a salary of $8,000, the district attorney of $5,000 and the marshal and clerk $3,000 each. The judge is to hold office for 15 years.

PHIPPS' GIFT TO THE LOWLY

OTHERS TO DONATE

Philanthropist Interests Prominent Men in Project and Trustee Named.

LETTER GIVING HIS IDEAS

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Herald Building, Herald square, NEW YORK, Jan. 13.

With a gift of $1,000,000, announcement of which was made today, Henry Phipps, one of the directors of the United States Steel Corporation, has established a fund for the erection of improved tenement houses for the working classes of New York, and for the general betterment of the tenement house situation.

Associated with Mr. Phipps in the movement are some of the best known citizens of New York. His donation is merely one of many of equal liberality, which will follow as part of a thoroughly considered plan to solve one of the most vital social problems.

When Mr. Phipps decided to devote part of his great wealth to this philanthropic enterprise he consulted Robert W. De Forest, who was tenement house commissioner in Mayor Low's administration, and Alfred T. White, Myles Tierney and Charles S. Brown, who were also members of the New York state tenement house commission of 1900, which framed the existing tenement house laws.

Organization Is Formed.

After receiving their advice he invited the co-operation of some of his friends, all interested in work of the kind, and as a result an organization has been effected with a board of trustees, consisting, besides those named, of these gentlemen: Mayor McClellan, acting in an ex-officio capacity; Isidor Straus, John W. Arbuckle, Dr. E. R. L. Gould, president of the City and Suburban Homes Company, which is engaged in building model tenements on an extensive scale; W. S. Hawk, Charles A. Moore, George E. Gordon, John S. Phipps and Charles Stewart Smith.

In taking this step Mr. Phipps wrote the following letter, embodying his ideas of the movement and the methods to be pursued in carrying it out:

"Gentlemen—I have asked you to meet me to obtain your advice and assistance on a matter I have had in mind for some years, and which I now have pleasure in stating. I proposed to organize a society for the purpose of building tenement houses in the city of New York, preferably in the borough of Manhattan if it can be done advantageously, but if land be found too high or if building conditions are such as to threaten undue cost of construction or unreasonable delay, then, in the other boroughs of the city or elsewhere.

"I propose to give $1,000,000 for this purpose. I expect the tenements to be so planned as to earn about 4 per cent on their cost, after allowing a proper amount for maintenance and repairs. I intend to have the earnings accumulate and to be used from time to time in erecting more tenements.

"My wish is that the rooms should not be rented at a price below the market rate. I do not wish to discourage individual investors from building tenements on a purely business basis. To do so might check building operations, raise rents and in the end prove injurious to the working people, whom I wish to aid and who must rely in so large a measure on building for purely business reasons to provide them with homes. If there is a period of high cost and great inflation, then the work should go very slowly or be stopped. On the other hand, if there is a period of great depression and lack of employment it may be well to go fast and perhaps have more than one building under way at the same time.

"It would certainly be an advantage to have one building finished and rented, and see how it rents and suits tenants, before starting to erect a second. My object is to make this money do as much good as possible.

Wants Play Grounds for Children.

"I should like the buildings to have all the light and air possible; to have them fireproof and thoroughly sanitary, and so far as possible to have spaces around them in which the children could play. It may be well to erect buildings for perhaps two of three classes of wage earners, or it may possibly be better to confine ourselves to one class, hoping thus to relieve the market, and incidentally benefit another class. I shall look with great interest to the progress of the work and perhaps may see much of it finished while I am here to enjoy it. I intend to have the gentlemen whom I have invited to the meeting constitute the trustees of the society, with full power to fill vacancies. One of the first things will be to elect officers. The trustees are to have

CANAL SCHEME NEEDS REVISION

ASKS LARGER POWER

Mr. Roosevelt Desires Greater Discretion, With Fewer Members of Board.

THE WHOLE SUBJECT REVIEWED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—President Roosevelt, in a message transmitting to congress today the first annual report of the Panama canal commission, together with a letter from Secretary Taft relating to Panama affairs, recommends that he (the president) be given greater discretion, as he is charged with the responsibility of constructing the canal. The board of canal commissioners, he says, should be reduced to five, or preferably three members, whose duties, powers and salaries should be assigned by the president. The president's message is as follows:

"To the Senate and House of Representatives—I transmit herewith the report of the Isthmian canal commission, accompanied by a letter of the secretary of war, under whose supervision I have, by executive order, placed the work of the commission. I concur with the secretary of war in the view that the present provision of law by which the work of building the canal has to be done only through a body of seven members is unwieldy and clumsy, and I earnestly recommend a change, so that the president, who is charged with the responsibility of building the canal, may exercise greater discretion in the organization of the personnel through whom he is to discharge this duty.

No Engineers on Commission.

"Actual experience has convinced me that it will be impossible to obtain the best and most effective service under the limitations prescribed by law. The general plans for the work must be agreed upon with the aid of the best engineers of the country, who should act as an advisory or consulting body. The consulting engineers should not be put on the commission, which should be used only as an executive instrument for the executive and administrative work. The actual work of executing the general plans agreed upon by the commission, after receiving the confidence of the advising engineers, must be done by an engineer in charge, and we now have an excellent engineer. It is, in my judgment, inadvisable, therefore, to restrict the executive's choice of commissioners to representatives of the engineering corps of the army or the navy.

"The commission should consist of five, or preferably of three members, whose respective duties, powers and salaries should be assigned to them by the president, and who should be placed under the member of the cabinet whom the president desires. Of these men, the one appointed as administrator of the canal strip should also serve as minister to Panama.

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

Chaotic Conditions on Isthmus.

In his letter Secretary Taft says the commission has done a great deal of the work of organization, sanitation, and preparation to build the canal. The chaotic condition of affairs on the Isthmus, however, due to the time which has elapsed since the new French canal company ceased to work, the lack of care of the plant and equipment and the rank growth of vegetation in that soil and climate, brought about such a state of confusion that it will require several months yet to restore proper conditions of the work of canal building. Decided progress has been made in the verification of the data obtained by the French engineers and in procuring new data necessary to enable the engineers of the commission to determine the proper plan for the canal.

The secretary devotes much space in a statement of the details of the arrangement made by him personally with the government of Panama governing the relations between the canal zone government and Panama. He expresses the opinion that it may be necessary to increase from 10 to 15 per cent the rate of duty that may be collected by Panama on goods destined for the canal zone, and points out that the monopoly now existing on tobacco will expire in 1906 and will not be renewed, so that that market will be open to the United States.

Labor Question Is Difficult.

He says that the question of labor is not free from difficulty, and it will not be easy to secure all the Jamaica laborers required, as the governor of Jamaica is unwilling to consent to the commission taking 10,000 laborers, except upon a bond of £5 sterling for each laborer, to protect the Jamaican government against the maintenance under the poor laws of the families left behind. However, a considerable voluntary emigration of labor is expected, and the secretary hopes satisfactory labor also may be obtained in Porto Rico. Offers also have been made to supply on trial 1,000 Chinamen and a similar number of Japanese coolies.

The secretary says that without criticising the commission, the plan for building the canal is inelastic and the law seems to require the commission to act as a body.

The secretary strongly recommends the acquisition by the government of the 1.52 per cent of the stock of the Panama Railroad Company, now in private hands, which may be secured by condemnation or through a lease of the road to the canal commission. He refers to Gen. Davis' criticisms of the management of the road, and says that radical changes must be made on the 1st of April, when the new board of directors will be elected.

Railroad Contract Invalid.

Referring to the existing contract between the Panama Railroad Company and the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, giving the latter exclusive right to land through bills of lading on business between San Francisco and New York, the secretary says he thinks this contract is invalid under the laws of Colombia and the laws of Panama, but, at any rate, he is clear that the United States government cannot consistently, and with due regard to its own public policy, make itself a party to such a contract. He has directed the commission to serve notice on the Pacific Mail Steamship Company of the intention of the railroad company to withdraw from the contract at the end of six months.

The report of the canal commission recites that its first visit to the canal zone was in April last, during which time the only work in progress was the excavation of the Culebra cut. Neither the equipment nor the organization of the force was considered adequate or in any way fitted for the prompt removal of the great mass of material in the cut.

The French surveys, although scientifically conducted, were found to be of little value on account of the changes which have taken place, not only in the size of vessels, but in the existing conditions and methods of constructing. Under these conditions it was decided that the most effectual step toward progress was the immediate organization of surveying parties to determine, among other things, the practicability of a sea level canal.

French Plant Is Useful.

The report says that the development of the final plans for both the deep water canal and the inner harbor at either end of the canal, including about a mile of the canal line, will be concluded within the next two or three months, in connection with which a large amount of filling of low ground will be performed within the limits of Christobal and the city of Colon, which has a most important bearing upon the sanitation of that city.

Among the general purposes of the organization, the report says, is to ascertain by actual trial certain important information regarding practicable routes and cost of work under conditions existing along the canal line. The commission says it has been found feasible to use much more of the machinery and plant turned over by the French company than was anticipated at first, and much progress already has been made in that direction.

The water works and sewer systems of Panama and Colon are described and also the plans to improve these two cities. As regards the sanitation of the isthmus the report says that extreme measures have been adopted for the prevention and cure of diseases and the department of health has been made an administrative department of the canal zone government. In the management of its hospitals the plan of the commission is to grant free treatment to its employes, but to require all others to pay.

Railroad a Valuable Adjunct.

The system of accounting is being developed as the work progresses and is considered by the commission fully satisfactory.

A large section of the report is devoted to the Panama railroad. The commission feels that the government, which now owns over 98 per cent of the shares of the railroad, should own the entire capital. The commission is ready to purchase any shares that may be offered at par. The commission says it is too early to make any recommendation in regard to the policy to be followed in the management of the road, but it expresses the opinion that during the construction of the canal the railroad will be a large and valuable adjunct. On the completion of the canal it will become merely a local line between the cities of Colon and Panama.

Steps have been taken looking to a reduction of the abuse of free transportation on the road. The report says the present steamship equipment will be inadequate to meet the demands of passenger and freight traffic during active construction of the canal, and says plans for new steamships have been ordered.

In reference to the judicial branch of the canal zone government, the commission thinks that though a supreme court has been provided for in the canal zone, its establishment is not necessary if provision is made for appeal to courts sitting in the United States.

Tax Legislation Necessary.

Additional legislation is needed to provide for taxes on land, internal revenue taxes, registration of land titles, court of land titles and a civil code. The investigation of these several matters is now in progress and the commission thinks that the required enactments will be adopted within a reasonable time.

The report contains the first annual report of Maj.-Gen. Davis, governor of the canal zone, dated November 1, 1904. Gov. Davis comments on the high telegraph and railroad rates on the isthmus. He advises making the railroad telegraph line a government line, and says that if the government would go out of the steamboat business and would reduce rates across the isthmus 50 per cent, private competition would reduce steamship rates between New York and Colon and San Francisco and Panama.

Gen. Davis says this suggestion would result in a large diminution of revenue of the railroad, but also in a very large diminution of expenses of management. The New York office can be given up entirely, for there will be no excuse for its maintenance, which last year cost $95,000, and whose agency expenses at that point and in other places cost more than $100,000. The chief engineer of the isthmian canal commission would take charge of and manage the Panama railroad, 47 miles long, as a mere trifling incident of his engineering duties.

EXPELLED BY DOWIE.

Six Alleged Cranks Are Thrown Out of Zion City—Others Under Ban.

WAUKEGAN, Ill., Jan. 13.—(Special.)—Prophet Dowie, Elijah II., has expelled William Garner, H. C. Payne, William Grange, George Williams, George E. Ellis and a person known by the name of "The Self-Styled Prophet of Sec. 17," from Zion City. Deacon and Deaconess Partridge of Australia also have been put under the ban and deprived of their official vestments. Most of those expelled are alleged to have been cranks breeding discontent.

William Garner held the idea that all the faithful would be translated like Elijah, and had been trying to get Dowie to accept it also.

CRUSADE ON VICE STIRS NEW YORK

M'ADOO JOINS WITH JEROME

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Frightened by the activity of District Attorney Jerome, who has announced he intends, if possible, to suppress gambling in this city, hundreds of card sharps are preparing to leave New York. Many of them plan to go to Hot Springs, Ark., and other winter resorts.

The gamblers were given a staggering blow by Mr. Jerome today when he announced every keeper of a gambling house in New York will be summoned to appear before him to tell what he knows about the business. To add to their fright, Police Commissioner McAdoo late today joined in the crusade to eradicate gambling, and sent his secretary with police officials to raid a pool room and gambling house in lower Sixth avenue. The police arrested five and took the names of nearly 100 persons in the place.

Later, a squad of police raided a handbook betting crowd in a pool and billiard room in a hotel in West Fifty-fourth street. Five prisoners were taken. Brooklyn police officials raided a pool room in St. Nicholas avenue today, and took seven men in custody. Over 200 persons were found in the place.

At police headquarters the entire staff of policemen were kept on duty until 5 o'clock, and notification was given that 5 o'clock will close the working day in the future. Commissioner McAdoo had conferences with many of his captains, and several police officials were closeted with the district attorney.

Saloonkeepers in the business district are fighting the order to remove all booths and partitions from their saloons. Magistrate Ommen had 37 saloonkeepers of the tenderloin in his court today.

War against the "cadet system" and similar characteristic evils of the lower East Side, inspired it is said by several wealthy Wall street bankers, was formally begun today in Yorkville police court when 40 warrants for the arrest of men and women alleged to be concerned in such crime were issued. Eighteen persons were arrested on these warrants and arraigned on a charge of vagrancy. They were held in $500 bail each for trial tomorrow.

Mr. Jerome said today:

"I am going to get every faro bank layout, every roulette wheel and every poker chip in New York city.

"Then I'm going to burn them. I'm going to have the biggest bonfire this town ever saw.

PHIPPS' GIFT TO LOWLY

the power to do everything necessary the same as I could do it were I taking the work upon myself.

"To ensure the carrying out of the gift I will deposit in a trust company, or with a committee of this board, sufficient cash from time to time to insure the performance of my part.

"HENRY PHIPPS."

Mr. Phipps Made President.

Mr. Phipps has been made president of the society, Mr. Straus vice president and Mr. De Forest chairman of the executive committee. The intention is to erect one large building at first to be known as Phipps house, and if this proves successful, to follow with several other structures.

Speaking for Mr. Phipps today, Mr. De Forest said:

"Above all, the aim will be to obtain a place where ample playgrounds may be laid out, and because of this it is likely that the first building will be put up in the northern part of Manhattan. After that, no doubt, others will be built downtown, where the majority of the tenement house dwellers find their employment."

Asked what advantage the project would be to persons of the class mentioned, if the rentals should not be lower than the market rate, as set forth in Mr. Phipps' letter, Mr. De Forest said:

"It is not the intention to make any of these who may profit by the enterprise feel that they are dependents upon charity. It is well known that at present many owners of tenements on the East Side are deriving 15 per cent from rentals. Mr. Phipps is willing that this donation should earn no more than 4 per cent. That in itself probably will serve to bring about a general reduction, and thus benefit the poorer classes at large."

Sketch of the Donor.

Henry Phipps is known as one of America's wealthiest men, his fortune being estimated at about $50,000,000. Born of poor parents in Allegheny City, Pa., his first employment was as a messenger boy in Pittsburgh, and he and Andrew Carnegie ran errands together and then formed the partnership which has existed ever since. Mr. Phipps' charities have been many. While still a resident of Pittsburgh he devoted large sums to beautifying the parks in that city and Allegheny, with conservatories.

In 1900 he moved to New York and bought nearly the entire block on Fifth avenue, between Eighty-seventh and Eighty-eighth streets, and built a residence costing close to $1,000,000. In 1902 attention was attracted by his gift of $100,000 for the widows and orphans of the Boers who had lost their lives in the Transvaal war. A year later he gave $12,500 to the educational alliance and $300,000 for the establishment of an institute for the treatment and study of tuberculosis. Afterward he gave $1,000,000 for the foundation of a hospital for consumptives in Philadelphia, and $150,000 for an agricultural and Pasteur institute in India. He recently presented the Western Penitentiary in Allegheny city with a conservatory. Mr. Phipps and family spend a great portion of each year in England.

PITTSBURGHER DIES OF DOSE OF POISON

William Nelson Believed to Have Committed Suicide in the South.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

MONROE, La., Jan. 13.—William Nelson, apparently a well-to-do young man of good family, who was brought to this city yesterday on an Iron Mountain train from Corry, where he had swallowed four ounces of laudanum evidently with suicidal intent, has been identified as a Pittsburgher. He died at the Charity hospital at 3 o'clock this morning.

In his clothes was found a note asking that in case anything should happen to him his father in Pittsburgh be notified. Dr. Lee George wired to Pittsburgh and received an answer to prepare the body for shipment and to send it home. It will leave in the morning via Vicksburg. There is a good deal of mystery surrounding the whole affair. Nelson is believed to have left home and come south, and, running short of funds, grew despondent.

CARRIED INFERNAL MACHINE.

Man Arrested in Philadelphia Claims He Knows Whereabouts of Owen Kelly.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 13.—(Special.)—Gessler Rosseau, who despite his name asserts that he is identified with an Irish movement to dynamite all British ships of war, was arrested here today with an infernal machine (unloaded) in his possession. He is believed by the police to be the man who tried to blow up the statue of Frederick the Great at Washington.

Rosseau was arrested while negotiating with Patrick Kelly, brother of Owen Kelly, a wealthy merchant who strangely disappeared. Rosseau said he would take Patrick Kelly to a place in New York where Owen is kept a prisoner, because "he knows too much about certain Irish societies." Rosseau wanted $500.

DOCTOR SAYS KORNHAUSER DID NOT KILL HIMSELF

Although the coroner's deputy, who investigated the death of Marcus Kornhauser at 913 Wood street, West Wilkinsburg, Wednesday night, declared Kornhauser committed suicide by taking cyanide of potassium, Dr. T. W. Stephens, who examined the body, said yesterday that he did not think Kornahauser committed suicide. The doctor said there were no symptoms of poisoning on the body and the principal sign of potassium poisoning, protraction of the iris, was not discernible. The bottle found by the body was not emptied and the percentage of the cyanide Dr. Stephens thought was insufficient to kill a man. He attributed the death to heart disease.

CHINESE RAILROAD AGAIN CONTROLLED BY AMERICANS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(Special.)—Some quick work has been done within the last week to save the railroad from Canton to Hankow, China, from disfranchisement. The railroad was built as an American corporation. Gradual transfer of the stock from the American holders to Belgians have been made, and Sir Chentung Liang Cheng declared China intended to annul the franchise. The owners of the stock were quickly notified, and the announcement was today made that J. P. Morgan and other Americans have repurchased the stock.

HAMILTON MUST RETURN TO WASHINGTON COUNTY

New York Court Holds That Governor's Warrant for Extradition Is Sufficient Evidence.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—John A. Hamilton, who was arrested here last April on request of Washington county (Pennsylvania) authorities, will have to go back to Pennsylvania under a decision of the appellate division of the supreme court, which was handed down today. When Hamilton was arrested and after requisition papers for his return to Pennsylvania had been obtained, his counsel secured his release on habeas corpus proceeding, Justice Dugro holding that the indictment found against him in Pennsylvania was insufficient.

The appellate division holds that the warrant of a governor of a state authorizing the extradition of a person charged with an offense is prima facia evidence that all essential legal perquisites have been observed.

The offense charged against Hamilton is the obtaining of a signature upon a promissory note with intent to cheat and defraud, and further the actual defrauding of the Sykes Woolen Mill Company and Harry J. Sykes, out of $2,500.

BOY SET FIRE TO BABY DURING PARENTS' ABSENCE

While his mother was attending an entertainment and the father a meeting of a fraternal order, David, the 18-months-old son of Reese Williams of Mills avenue, Braddock, was probably fatally burned at the family home at 10 o'clock last night. The child had been left with three other children at home in charge of a servant girl. He was playing about the floor with his 3-year-old brother, when the latter lighted a piece of paper at the grate. In their play the baby's clothes became ignited and he was burned about the face, head and body before the servant could extinguish the flames.

Says He Never Got the Suit.

Charles Freiburg was arrested yesterday, at 120 Anderson street, Allegheny, by Detectives Demmel and McDonald on a warrant issued by Magistrate Stewart charging him with obtaining money under false pretense. The information was made by Benjamin Johnston of 1221 Colwell street, who alleged Freiburg offered to sell him a suit of clothing on the installment plan, and after he made several payments the suit was not forthcoming.

DELAWARE DEADLOCK IS BROKEN AT LAST

Addicks' Republicans Make Pact With Regulars, and Sacrifice Office of Speaker.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

DOVER, DEL., Jan. 13.—For the first time in the 15 years of the candidacy of J. Edward Addicks for United States senator, his "Union Republican" assemblymen slipped through his fingers today and organized one branch of the legislature, thus breaking the three weeks' deadlock. It was a hard blow to the Addicks leaders, for while they got the speaker of the house, their line of campaign to hold up organization of the house until they had secured the president of the senate was annihilated.

The Union members of the house accepted the offer of the regulars to organize on any equal division of the offices. The house was then called to order and William Denny was elected on the first ballot as speaker. Even Representative Willard T. Smith, the Democratic caucus nominee, tendered Denney his vote.

Thomas S. Lewis, regular Republican of Wilmington, was elected clerk by strict party vote, and the other offices were equally divided by the Republican factions. The governor was notified, and submitted his message which had been in type for two weeks awaiting organization.

The avalanche was only stopped in the senate before organization, by a snap motion to adjourn until Monday.

CATTLEMEN RENT IN TWAIN.

Livestock Association Splits Over Admittance of Packers to Membership.

DENVER, Jan. 13.—The National Livestock association was rent in twain today by the adoption of a new constitution which admitted packers to membership, and provided an open door through which the railroads of the country may at any time become factors in the control of the organization.

The cattlemen, horse and swine growers, and representatives of some of the affiliated industries, withdrew, and this afternoon formed a new organization under the name of the American Stock Growers' association, whose aim it will be to wield a dominant influence in the interest of the cattle grower.

THREE BATTLESHIPS IS NAVAL PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(Special.)—Three battleships and nothing else constitute the naval authorization program of the house leaders in naval legislation for this session. There is practical agreement now among the majority members of the house committee on this plan, and strong hopes were expressed today by Representatives Dayton and Butler that it will be adopted by the house. If it is, the administration will win substantial victory in the matter of types.

Would Be a Slight to Panama.

PANAMA, Jan. 13.—The suggestion that the governorship of the Panama canal zone be combined with the American legation at Panama has created a feeling of disappointment among Panamanas, who would be disposed to regard such a change as a slight to their government. The belief is that the American government will not adopt the present plan suggested.

Senator Muehlbronner and Club Celebrate Rescue in Mammoth Cave.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 13.—Senator C. A. Muehlbronner of Pittsburgh, president of the Echo River club, headed 16 Pennsylvanians and other survivors of the thrilling escape in Mammoth cave last year, who celebrated that event today with a banquet. The St. Charles hotel dining room was especially arranged for the event. Only two members of the club were absent.

A party of Pennsylvanians, headed by Senator Muehlbronner, went for a trip down Echo river in Mammoth cave last year. The boat partly capsized in one of the dark, narrow passageways, and had it not been for the presence of mind of the stalwart Pittsburgher, the entire party would have been drowned. Medals were made commemorating the thrilling moment and they were worn at the convention of commission merchants now in session here.

Although in 26 wards the Republicans have no contests for ward officers primaries will be held because of the contest for the nomination for controller between George Sheppard and A. C. McLean whose names will be presented to the Republican convention in Old City hall on Tuesday night.

There will be contests for ward offices in the Ninth, Eleventh, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Sixteenth, Eighteenth, Twenty-second, Twenty-third, Twenty-fifth, Twenty-eighth, Thirty-first, Thirty-seventh and Thirty-ninth wards.

The liveliest fight for the Republican nominations will be in the Thirteenth ward, the main contest being for alderman. Alderman Emile A. Sparr is confident of winning against his two rivals, J. William Neff and W. J. Hamilton, who are also convinced they will be nominated. The Citizens party will participate in the primaries and vote for Sparr.

Fusion with the Orphans and the Republicans is in effect in the Fourteenth, Nineteenth, Twentieth, Twenty-first and Twenty-third wards.

W. J. Fleming, secretary of the Sterrett school district of the Twenty-second ward and the oldest member of the board in length of service, is a candidate for renomination at the primaries. His many friends are doing their utmost to assure his success and have left nothing undone to secure a large vote for him.

Representative L. B. Cook is preparing several bills which he will present during the legislative session. Two of them provide for two new common pleas courts, another authorizes the establishment of a bureau of county detectives and is prepared at the request of District Attorney Stewart; a third increases the salary of the warden of the Allegheny county jail to $5,000, and another provides that the coroner shall turn over to the county treasurer the money and valuables found on the unidentified dead.

Republican suggestion meetings were held last night in Homestead, with the following results:

Borough auditor, James M. Campbell, H. L. Baker, Jeff. Williams and John B. Martin.

First ward—Council, one to nominate, John D. Shaw, David Reese and George M. Hall; school director, one to nominate, I. H. Bridges, H. F. Jones, A. K. Mitchell and A. E. Holt; constable, F. B. Armor and T. Shinton.

Second ward—Council, one to nominate, H. A. Haley and Morris Frankel; school director, one to nominate, Gottlieb Kinley and George Gessner; constable, Dan McGeary, John Veynon and Thomas Cannon.

Third ward—Council, one to nominate, J. J. Eadra and A. E. Noble; school director, one to nominate, J. Weatnerspoon, William Ford, Robert Scott and O. F. Swisher; constable, Frank Ball and Charles Stewart.

Fourth ward—Council, one to nominate, J. A. Doyle, B. F. Lloyd and H. J. O'Donnell; school director, one to nominate, J. H. Williams and O. T. Hill; constable, R. R. Calvin, H. E. Wilson and Frank Diable.

Fifth ward—Council, one to nominate, William H. Williams and John J. Clifford; school director, three-year term, G. F. L. Wickersham; one-year term, E. D. McCormick and C. E. Elrick; constable, Walter Donaldson.

John E. Larkin was indorsed for re-election at a meeting of Nineteenth ward Citizens in the Margaretta school last night. Director Bigelow, the new member of the city committee, who succeeds his brother, the late Thomas S. Bigelow, was instructed to vote for the nomination of Larkin next week. E. C. Negley, now alderman and police magistrate, who has a Republican nomination, was renominated. A. L. Schultz and James Rodgers, the present school directors, were renominated, as were Robert H. Killen for constable and John W. Westhead for assessor. The ward committee was reorganized by the election of Ira F. Brainard as chairman; Councilman Charles H. West as vice president, E. J. Cochran as secretary, and James M. McKee as treasurer.

MONUMENT FOR THE HARWICK MINE VICTIMS

United Mine Workers Will Pay Tribute to Those Who Lost Lives.

A monument is to be erected in memory of the coal miners who lost their lives in the explosion at the Harwick mine January 28, 1904. This tribute will be paid by the members of the United Mine Workers of this district.

The fund will be collected from all the locals in the district, the Harwick local heading the list by a donation of $400, all the money in its treasury. It is intended the monument be unveiled Decoration day, providing the money can be collected and the monument erected by that time. This will be the first time in the history of organized labor in the United States where a monument has been erected in commemoration of any members who lost their lives in a disaster while following their daily occupation.

At the convention of the organization being held in the Moorhead hall it was decided that all treasurers of local unions be put under bond. The new rule is to be effective after the present bonds expire. Incorporated in the resolution was that Secretary Treasurer William Dodds also be put under title and trust bond. Heretofore individual property owners have been his security.

All the business of the convention was transacted yesterday, but the delegates will meet this morning to consider any miscellaneous matters which may be brought forward. The delegates to the national convention to be held at Indianapolis will leave this evening. Nearly all the delegates attending the district meeting carry credentials for the national convention.

EXPECT MANY FOREIGNERS.

Rush of Immigrants Looked for With the Approach of Spring—Steamship Rates Low.

With the approach of spring another flood of immigrants is expected in the Pittsburgh district. Large numbers are already arriving, but for the most part are passing through to destinations in the northwest, the Portland (Ore.) exposition attracting much unskilled labor. Owing to shortage of railroad work in this vicinity many foreigners were driven northwest during the winter, but with prospects of considerable work in the spring the influx of immigrants is expected to be heavy.

While announcements have been made that the steamship rate war had spent its force, and harmony was restored, there has been no material change in the low rate for transportation, and local agents do not look for peace for some time. The immigration laws have been rigidly enforced of late and this has tended to keep out much of the undesirable element.

THREE MILLION BUSHELS GET OUT

River Coal Company Alone Ships More Than Two-Thirds of This Amount.

MUCH MORE IS READY TO GO

Nearly 3,000,000 bushels of coal got away to the south yesterday and last night. Only one accident was reported. In this five barges, loaded with coal, were lost at Dam No. 2, in the Monongahela. With the exception of these there were no losses reported up to 6 o'clock last evening.

The rise has been one of the best the rivermen have had for a couple of years. It just brought a good stage of water, about 14½ feet yesterday afternoon, and this removed all danger from such risky passages as Merrimans, where the trouble was experienced in the last rise. Boats had no difficulty in getting out.

The Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company was the largest shipper. That company sent out the following boats yesterday and last night: Iron Sides, 12 barges and 12 coal boats; Charlie Brown, 12 barges and 5 boats; Raymond Horner, 12 barges and 10 boats; Ed Roberts, 11 boats, 1 model and 1 barges; Jim Moren, 15 boats, 2 models and 2 barges. The company shipped a total of 45 barges, 53 boats, and 3 model barges. A barge carries about 8,000 bushels of coal and a coal boat 25,000 bushels. This makes a total of 2,125,000 bushels sent out by the river coal company on this rise. The model barges were loaded with manufactured products from the steel mills of this section.

The Sprague is expected to get away on this rise. She will take about 20 coal boats and will double up her tow at Bellaire bridge, as large tows cannot be taken through the channel there on account of the bridge piers. She will double up again in the Mississippi and take one of her big tows. The Sprague has a record of carrying, in a single tow, 56,000 tons of coal, equal to about 1,400,000 bushels.

The J. B. Finley and the Joseph B. Williams, with the W. W. O'Neil, are also expected to take big tows out on this rise. They will all go to New Orleans and will not be back in Pittsburgh until next summer or fall.

The C. Jutte company, otherwise the Peoples Coal Company, will send out the Oakland, with 20 coal boats; and the Crescent, with 12 coal boats. The Oakland will probably go all the way down, increasing her tow at Louisville to 30 coal boats. The A. R. Budd company will start the Frank Gilmore, and the United Coal Company will send out the Crescent. Rivermen think there will be good barge water for a couple more days. The Allegheny did not put out much. That river did not get the benefit of the thaw and rain and a big gorge at Freeport is holding back what water it was sending out. The gorge is said to be holding back 16 feet of water.

Only two accidents were reported yesterday, one not serious. The Diamond, Capt. J. W. Gumbert, was attempting to enter the lock at No. 2, when she was caught by the current and swung down upon the dam. To save his boat Capt. Gumbert ordered the tow of seven loaded barges cut loose. They went down over the dam and four turned bottom side up. The Diamond caught two more below the dam and the third was sunk. The W. H. Flint struck the tow of the United Coal Company at the Wabash bridge. One barge and four empty boats were torn loose and one barge sunk. The Iron Sides went to the Flint's assistance and she landed in the Allegheny river at the Point.

The boats down the river will start up with their tows as soon as the ice is out of the road. This will take a day or two and after that it is thought they will have little difficulty in getting up. The Alice Brown, which is lying at Steubenville, is the nearest to this city. The River Coal Company will send tows down to meet the up boats with smaller steamboats and they will exchange along the river. The small boats will bring the empties back. Probably 7,000,000 to 10,000,000 bushels will be got out on this rise.

End-of-Season Prices on Boys' Clothing

The end of the merchant's season is a fine time to buy boys' clothes. The lowest of low prices prevail then and in many cases on goods that have been in the store only a short time.

But the end of the merchant season and the end of the wearing season do not correspond by a long shot. Clothes bought now can be worn well into the Spring months, some of them even longer. They can then be brought out for service again next Autumn, and will be found in good style, as back numbers never find their way into our stock, and about any boys' suit or overcoat can be worn two years from the fashion point of view. Some of our end-of-season prices:

$3.75 today will buy Boys' Double-Breasted Knee Pant Suits from lines that sold for $6.00, $6.50 and $7.00. How much will you save?

Republican primaries will be held in the wards this evening for the nomination of a candidate for city controller and the various ward offices. No engrossing interest has yet been manifested, but it is the duty of the good citizen to look closely after the incumbents of ward offices, which are at the foundation of our government system. The Democrats made their nomination for city controller by committee some time ago, but will have meetings this evening to suggest candidates for ward offices. They appear rather apathetic. In general the political situation in the city is much mixed, but is tending back toward regular party affiliations.

Russia's violations of Chinese neutrality go rather farther than the incidents cited in the Russian note toward sustaining the contention that China is unable to protect itself. Yet that fact does not detract from the indiscretion of Russia setting up a claim to a right to act for itself. If such a claim could be granted to Russia it would apply with full effect to Japan, which is in a better position to sustain its own interests. The seizure of the Russian torpedo boat destroyer Rastoropny in Chefoo harbor is a pertinent example of what might happen to Russia if it should be decided that each belligerent must take care of his own rights under Chinese jurisdiction.

President Roosevelt has unquestionably won his contest with the house of representatives, which will proceed to consideration of the recommended amendment of the interstate commerce law. The senate is said to be more recalcitrant. It has not been a party to the agreement to take up the rate question if the president will drop the suggested session for tariff revision. At the same time the chief executive has the whip hand. If the house passes the rate bill up to the president, the senate alone can be called in extra session whenever it may please the president to do so. Under the circumstances it will be no surprise to see the senate "get busy" when its turn comes.

Attorney J. W. N. Whitecotton of Provo has been the best witness yet produced for the Mormons in the Smoot case. He goes so far as to say some of the Mormons of Utah opposed Smoot for senator because he was an apostle for the church. He also offered the best reason yet suggested for official neglect to take action against the polygamists, namely, the danger of depriving women and children of needed support. Yet Mr. Whitecotton was silent upon the point that bears most directly on the right of Reed B. Smoot to hold a seat in the senate. That is the question, whether his oath as an apostle or his obligation to the Mormon church is superior to his duty of allegiance to the government. That is the essential thing in the whole controversy.

Some idea of the grandeur of the completed cathedral of St. John the Divine, built by the Episcopal church in New York city, may be gained from the fact that it will require three years more to complete one-twentieth of the structure. Work was started ten years ago, and the gift of $600,000 by Mr. and Mrs. Levi P. Morton will nearly complete the sum needed to finish the preliminary work. The entire structure will cost over $20,000,000, and it will overlook the Hudson from Morningside heights, near Columbia college. The section next to be completed will seat over 5,000 people, and the entire structure will be one of the largest cathedrals in the United States. The scheme had its inception in the desire to imitate the magnificence of the European cathedrals, and it has the support of such rich men as J. P. Morgan.

Congress may have intended a slap at Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow by putting the inspectors under the direct control of the postmaster general. If so, they failed to accomplish anything, for the president has shown his favor by appointing Mr. Bristow special commissioner to study freight rates of the Panama railroad. It is more than probable the transfer of the inspectors may have been made at the president's request, preliminary to assigning the fourth assistant to new duties. It is true the ire of congress was aroused by Mr. Bristow and it would have vented its wrath upon him had an opportunity offered at the time. It was shown, however, that he was not responsible for the offense charged to him, and after the first burst of indignation congressmen were glad to let the matter drop, as there was small credit for them in the situation.

Political conditions in Russia are certainly of the worst. During the past two or three months there have been no less than 56 officials assassinated; riots are of almost daily occurrence; outrages by the troops and upon the troops are frequent. These violent manifestations are accompanied by petitions for change in the government, and other evidences of widespread dissatisfaction. The truth about Russia is that its affairs are administered by bureaucrats, who assume the most arbitrary powers over the persons and property of the peasantry not contemplated by the principles of government. Justice is hard to secure for officialdom hangs together in order that the officials may not hang separately. Corruption has naturally grown rampant as a feature of the restrictive system. The war has so occupied officialdom that it gives opportunity for protests, violent and civil, and incidentally the popular remonstrance includes the burdens imposed by the war.

Next Year's Budget.

Beside the election of a city clerk and assistant in joint session yesterday, the incidents in councils were the partial admission of the members from the new ward and the introduction ordinances. The tax rate is placed at 12½ mills, the same as for the current fiscal year. The estimate of revenues is swelled to considerably larger proportions than the actual receipts for this year and the appropriations are correspondingly larger.

As we have the word of the city controller for it that this year's receipts are insufficient to meet the appropriations made last spring, and as there is no visible reason why the revenues at the same rate of taxation should be very much larger next year, a deficiency is in prospect. If so, it will have to be met later, even though the low rate may be made to serve for the mayoralty campaign in 1906.

No attempt will be made at this time to analyze the figures by comparing them with previous years. Judging by past experience, they are none too large to secure the safety and comfort of the community if applied to the best advantage—an application that is rarely realized. Rather there is ground for the fear that sufficient attention has not been given to that phase of the matter.

Smaller Panama Commission.

President Roosevelt, in transmitting the first annual report of the Panama canal commission and a letter from Secretary Taft embodying his recent investigations into isthmus conditions, recommends a reduction in the number of commissioners. He describes the commission of seven as "clumsy," and inasmuch as the president is held responsible for the work, he requests the privilege of appointing a commission of three without any restrictions. He specifies as embarrassing the provision for selection of engineers from the army and navy.

No surprise will be felt by the public over this communication from the executive. It has been understood the commission as constituted has been unwieldy. A large amount of work has been done, but as it has progressed the commissioners have been getting more in each other's way. The president also adopts the suggestion of Minister Barrett that the engineer in charge shall be made the diplomatic representative to the Panama republic. Another outcome of the report and the recommendations of Secretary Taft is the appointment of Joseph L. Bristow, fourth assistant postmaster general, as special commissioner to investigate freight rates over the Panama railroad. These are bitterly complained of by Gen. Davis.

Congress should not hesitate about granting the changes desired by the president. The responsibility is entirely his and he should have as completely a free hand in coping with the problem. Three commissioners, an engineer in charge and a corps of consulting engineers should constitute a more effective working force than a cumbersome commission of seven. The preliminary work is well in hand and the essentials for construction have been ordered. The next stage will be active excavation and building and the direction should be concentrated as much as possible. Incidentally it is well to say again there is no truth in the charges of dishonesty or incompetence that have been leveled at the existing commission as a whole.

Two Good Measures.

At least two propositions will be submitted to the legislature for the better protection of rural communities. One is the plan indorsed in Gov. Pennypacker's message for the creation of a state constabulary; the other is embodied in a bill to be presented by Representative Cook of this county, at the request of District Attorney Stewart, authorizing the appointment of county detectives by district attorneys.

Both measures are good, each in its own way. They do not necessarily conflict. If a state constabulary is organized, district attorneys will likely need no more officers than the chief detective provided for. If the state constabulary fails the county detectives become an urgent necessity. The state constabulary is to be preferred, because not being hampered by county lines it will be more effective. The other is more in the nature of meeting emergencies, and may occasionally prove very useful, even with state officers to call upon. Both measures should pass, for conditions in the state are becoming intolerable. In some sections violation of the law against carrying pocket weapons is almost a sheer necessity to the citizen who has to be out after dark.

Taxing Corporations.

Gov. White's recommendation that West Virginia should place a tax of one per cent on the gross incomes of certain corporations, in lieu of certain direct taxes, to meet state expenses for schools and the cost of state government, is an approach to the Pennsylvania system. In this state transportation, telegraph, telephone and express companies are taxed eight-tenths of one per cent upon their gross incomes. Though not specified so definitely these comprise the corporations named by retiring Gov. Albert B. White of West Virginia.

This recommendation of Gov. White is made the occasion for an attack upon the system by the Pittsburgh Times, under the caption of "Gov. White's Vision." The Times asserts that if the corporations are compelled to pay the cost of government, as suggested by Gov. White, they should enjoy all of the benefits of government, while if the benefits of government are to be for all the people, all of the people should share in the expense.

As a matter of fact, the corporations get about all that is coming to them in Pennsylvania and rather more than that in West Virginia. The system of taxing gross incomes of carriers has worked well in this state, and the difference of two mills in the suggested rate is hardly sufficient to warrant the assertion that it is a visionary plan in West Virginia. In addition, other Pennsylvania corporations pay a capital stock tax and one on interest-bearing indebtedness on behalf of the holders, while foreign corporations doing business here pay as high as two per cent upon gross receipts for the privilege. These subjects, together with the personal property tax, make up the state revenues for government, schools, roads and charities.

It does not follow that other citizens do not pay their full share of taxes. Though the state returns to localities the liquor licenses and some other collections, counties, towns and townships contribute sufficient in other forms to entitle their citizens to all of the protection they get. Does the Times mean to say they do not?

The Business Situation.

While speculative markets were dull and values were inclined to droop during the past week, general business lost none of the ground gained in recent weeks and the outlook remains as bright as ever. The most striking feature of the situation is the evidence of the great consumption of iron and steel. The Iron Age completed its compilation of returns of pig iron production for December and reports a total of 1,614,349 tons, an increase of 132,000 tons over November, and with two exceptions the largest output for any month in our history. But the most astonishing thing about these statistics is that despite the increase in production, furnace stocks on hand, sold and unsold, decreased more than 121,000 tons during the past month. The present consumption, therefore, is at the rate of about 20,000,000 tons a year, which compares with 18,009,252 tons, the largest production in any year, recorded in 1903. The optimism in the trade is reflected in a statement made in an address Thursday night by H. P. Bope, first vice president of the Carnegie Steel Company, who said that the "Carnegie Steel Company will in 1905 produce a greater tonnage than Pittsburgh produced in 1902," which recorded the largest total in the history of the city.

The cotton market continues in a depressed condition, but if efforts now being made to settle the long drawn out strike of New England cotton mill operatives prove successful, it will be not unreasonable to look for improvement in the price of the staple. During the week the price of wheat advanced to within a fraction of the highest quoted last year, when the spring wheat crop "scare" was the chief factor in the market. The statistical position of wheat is very strong, but the relatively high price has greatly curtailed exports and any further advance is likely to affect domestic demand and lead to a substitution of other food products. A fact which it might be well for grain speculators and others to bear in mind is that the yield of potatoes last year was 85,000,000 bushels larger than for the previous year, which will go a long ways toward offsetting the reduction of 95,000,000 bushels in the yield of wheat.

A prominent feature of the financial situation is the continued heavy exports of gold. Sterling exchange ruled firm all week, and shipments were made from New York to Paris, Berlin and South America, while San Francisco sent $2,500,000 of the metal to Japan. The fact that a Russian war loan was floated in Berlin during the week under unfavorable conditions probably had something to do with the demand for gold from the United States, and the additional fact that rates of interest in New York are below the parity of foreign bank rates facilitates the movement. Despite the heavy shipments last year and so far this year, however, the net amount of gold in the country today in the form of money is $67,000,000 larger than it was a year ago, and domestic money markets as a whole are easier than usual at this season.

Preventing Colds.

A few simple precautions will do much to prevent both colds and the sensation of being cold. The process that goes on in the lungs is similar to that in a stove; the more draught the hotter the fire. Give your lungs more draught and you will feel warmer immediately. Ten long, deep breaths on coming out of the house in the morning will make the outdoor temperature seem 20 degrees warmer. Long, deep breaths every time you go out from a warm room to the open air will send the blood tingling to the surface of the skin, and the colder the air the more exhilarating the sensation. Try it.—New York World.

Talked of in Gotham

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Conversational chatter about town naturally drifts this week, and will all of next week, to the durability of tires, the consumption of gasoline and the desirability of high horse-power or low horse-power, for the automobile manufacturers are in the city and they come rather close to owning some sections of it. At Madison Square garden, where the show begins tomorrow night, and at Herald Square hall, where the exhibition is already open, they are in complete possession, all previous occupants having surrendered unconditionally when the big machines rolled noiselessly into the floor spaces they will occupy for some days to come. It is the fifth annual show of the National Automobile Manufacturers' association at Madison Square garden and the first annual exhibition of the Importers' Automobile salon at Herald Square hall. The latter is an imposing and healthy offshoot of the big display at the garden and the result of insufficient floor space at Madison Square garden to accommodate all who desired to make public demonstration of their wares.

There is some difference between this condition and that attending the first automobile show that was given in this city. However, for some seasons the accommodations at the garden have not been equal to the demands for space, and it was agreed a year ago that it would either be necessary to build an annex to the immense show hall between Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh streets or conduct a supplementary show elsewhere in connection with the "three-ring" affair operated by the American manufacturers.

The list of exhibitors in Madison Square garden is the largest in the history of automobile shows in this country. Not only do their wares fill all the enormous floor space, but the restaurant, the concert hall, an elevated platform, the upper balcony, its extension, exhibition hall in the basement, the boxes, both first tier and second tier and even a room at the Fourth avenue end of the building have to be utilized to find room for those who are directly interested in catering to the automobile loving public.

Have Little Fear of Jerome.

Despite the report that the crusade being conducted by District Attorney Jerome against the gambling houses and pool rooms in this city had so scared the proprietors of such places that they had all discontinued business, it was learned this afternoon that only a few have been closed. At least four gambling houses in the Tenderloin were open to persons known this afternoon, and three pool rooms were also taking bets from regular customers. All of these places were violating the law openly in the Tenderloin district.

"What can Jerome do?" was the comment made this afternoon by the proprietor of one of the gambling houses. "He can only subpoena us, and then if we testify that we did violate the law we are exempt from punishment. There is absolutely no reason why we should want to close and we don't intend to."

It was learned that a few pool rooms had temporarily discontinued business. It is almost positive, however, that all the gambling houses which existed before the crusade was begun by District Attorney Jerome are still doing business.

This Speech More Than Silver.

By a speech not exceeding 15 minutes in length Edward M. Shepard, chairman of the board of trustees of the College of the City of New York, today raised $2,008,000 for that institution. The speech was made before the board of estimate and apportionment. Singularly enough, Mr. Shepard is a graduate of the college for which he was today enabled to do such effective work.

The large appropriation which the board granted by unanimous consent upon hearing Mr. Shepard is to be spent in completing and furnishing the five new buildings which will constitute the new College of the City of New York. The total cost of the same will be more than $4,500,000, and the city previously appropriated $2,000,000 to start the work. Two buildings are now under roof, a third nearly ready for the roof and the other two in an advanced stage of construction. The trustees hope to have them all completed and furnished ready for occupancy by one year from this date.

Carnegie Gives to University.

It was announced today at a meeting of the Women's Educational alliance of the Unitarian church, held at the Eighty-first church, that Andrew Carnegie had given $50,000 to the St. Lawrence university at Canton, N. Y., a Unitarian institution of which the Rev. Amion Gunnison, formerly of All Soul's church, Brooklyn, is president. In honor of the event the students of the university were given a half holiday and President Gunnison gave them a reception this evening.

A debate on whether the simple or the luxurious life was most conducive to happiness followed the business meeting of the Educational alliance. Mrs. Jane Peirce reviewed Charles Wagner's book, and the discussion brought out the fact that contentment, not money or the lack of it, brought most happiness. There was some disagreement as to what constituted simplicity and luxury. As to the former, one woman said that simplicity did not mean going without a cloth on the dining room table and luxury wasn't necessarily having flowers in the kitchen.

Twenty-Eight Years Dropped Out.

If anyone picks up the 28 years that James Supple has lost he will perform an act of kindness by returning them to him. Supple is 56 years old, but there is a vacancy in his mind that covers a period from the days of the centennial exposition until May. Supple was picked up in Morris street, Jersey City, by a policeman, and as he could not account for his movements he was taken to the first district court and arraigned before Judge Higgins.

"Where do you want to go?" asked the judge of the prisoner.

"To Manayunk," (a suburb of Philadelphia), he replied. "I just came over from the centennial grounds."

"What," exclaimed the judge. "This is 1905."

"Oh, no," answered the man. "This is 1876. I have a liberty bell in my pocket. My boat is lying down at a pier in the Delaware."

Nothing said could convince Supple that the centennial of 1876 is not going on now. Where he has been or what he has been doing in the interim the authorities will try to learn.

How to Die Young.

Here, then, are the three deadly symptoms of old age: Selfishness, stagnation, intolerance. If we find them in ourselves we may know we are growing old, even if we are on the merry side of 80. But, happily, we have three defenses which are invulnerable; if we use them we shall die young if we live to be 100. They are: Sympathy, progress, tolerance.—Harper's Bazar.

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Are you good?

If not, why not? It is up to you to rise and explain, for you know you ought to be.

There are lots of good people waiting to make your acquaintance if you are all right; also a lot who are wrong themselves are waiting for you if you are inclined to be bad, particularly if you happen to have a bit of money.

This latter lot have a particular fondness for young men who are good workers and make good money, but who think they have sporting blood in them or would like to have.

Dead game sports practically live off of you fellows who would be sports but are not.

Didn't you know that? Well, it's a fact, as you may easily learn.

The big sport looks the part, with here and there an exception. As a rule he is a big fellow, well fed and well dressed, smooth-faced and short-haired. His hands are fat and fair and usually flashes diamonds in rings or studs, and has a few in his pockets. They are good collateral when he has to borrow a stake.

And, as a rule, the big sport is pleasing in manner, at least toward green ones who have money to spend. And he is pretty slick, too, when there is money at stake, and will go far out of his way, apparently, to accommodate one whom he thinks worth while knowing.

* * * * *

But the big sport won't work; that is, he won't work at a legitimate trade. And yet he is a great worker of the little fellows, and successful, too, for he usually gets all the coin they have. He may not get it at the first sitting, but he gets it all the same.

Our country cousins are always impressed with his portly appearance and his style generally. They take him to be a leading citizen, and are willing to place all sorts of confidence in him—at first they are, but later on they are almost certain to wish they hadn't been introduced to him. They think that he just looks too good for anything, which is truer than they think, in a sense.

Haven't you noticed fine bunches of fellows standing in front of resorts where gamblers and sports do mostly congregate? Is it any wonder that young men and women from the country conclude that they are the finest ever?

They are generous, in a way, and honest, after a fashion, and yet they will skin you out of your last cent and then vote to expel you from the sport house.

Passing a public house where a number of sports lived, a good mother from out-of-town asked if it was a theological seminary. She said the men standing around looked as fine as preachers.

It is the fine looks of the game sport, and his easy life that appeals to the boy who doesn't like to work and to the young man who thinks himself too good for his job, and to the young woman who fancies a hearty looking, well dressed man.

* * * * *

The fact that these men are not good, either in morals or in manners, seems to cut a rather small figure with those who are looking for easy ways to live.

If they only could know the real life of the gambler and sport it might not impress them so favorably, for luck is not always with them and sometimes the supply of easy marks with money is not equal to the demand.

It is when the easy ones are scarce, or shy, that the professionals tackle each other and then it is diamond cut diamond, and somebody is bound to go broke, for a nervy gambler will stay in the game as long as his money and his credit lasts.

As easy and as gay as the life may seem to outsiders it is far from being a pleasant life, especially for those who are possessed of finer human feelings in any degree whatever.

No doubt but these men school themselves to the belief that money won at the gaming table is as good as money earned by honest labor. And they will even argue that every man who becomes wealthy does so by some sort of robbing that is no better than the sort they practice.

This doctrine is morally bad, very bad, and yet there are others besides sports and gamblers who practice it in business, but will not openly accept it.

* * * * *

Some sociologists, including Judge Lindsey of Denver, contend that the boy is a born gambler, and cite the conduct of newsboys and street gamin generally in support of their contention.

It is quite true that street boys are prone to gamble and usually have the nerve to stay with a game to the finish, but it is more of an acquired than a natural taste.

But when the taste has been acquired it is mighty hard to eradicate it, as many good men will tell you. It seems to stick closer than a virtue.

Anyone who has indulged in the game of poker, even for pins or beans, knows how the fascination grows, and how difficult it is to break away from it.

The game itself is not nearly as interesting as euchre and other card games, but the stakes render it not only more interesting to the players, but really fascinating. It is just like finding money, or getting it for nothing, and you know how crazy mankind is to get something for nothing.

It is this same spirit that leads women to bargain counters, remnant and fire sales. And it is probably true that nearly as much money is wasted at these as at gaming tables, for women can hardly resist buying any old thing if it is cheap, whether they need it or not.

* * * * *

Boys who are reared right are not particularly inclined to gamble, and are not liable to take to it when grown up. And this is all the more certain if they have been taught that bets and wagers are morally wrong, as they are.

It is clear, therefore, that the way in which to get rid of the curse of gambling and gaming is to impress it deeply on the mind of the child that it is wrong to indulge in games of chance. It will then grow up in this belief and not even be tempted to risk making or losing money at the gambling table.

Gambling has become more common and more popular since the bucketshop made its appearance. But there are many who would not patronize a bucketshop who do not hesitate to go around the corner and wager their good money on a turn of the market, for that is what buying and selling on margins amount to.

And how many do we find who are dead set against card playing, but who play the markets daily, and that in spite of the fact that thousands lose where one gains.

Isn't that bucking the tiger as much as risking money on the turn of a card?

Anyway, what difference, from a moral point of view, is there between the turn of a card and the turn of a quotation?

But for some reason there is no teaching in our schools concerning these things and very little is heard from the pulpit against the sin of gambling.

Punishment for Wife Beaters.

That there should be some other method of treating wife beaters than their commitment to jail is the opinion of officials who have considered the problem. At Bridgewater, a suburb of Boston, a satisfactory plan is in operation. The convicted wife beater is committed to prison and is then employed in municipal public work at fair wages, which are paid to his wife. Thus the victim of his brutality escapes suffering from his punishment and is more disposed to make complaint of his attacks.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Nation's Capital

By L. W. STRAYER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—President Roosevelt's proposition that the one crying need of this government at present is a law to prevent railroads from granting secret rebates to large shippers has come to be accepted by congress and by the public generally. The president promised, a short time before the election, that if he were elected everybody should have a square deal. Now he proposes to give it to them. He claims the greatest obstacle the small manufacturer finds in competing with the large corporations is the secret rebates that the big fellows get from the railroad companies and the favors they receive in the way of cars and shipping facilities. The leaders of congress agree with the president.

This being the case, President Roosevelt says laws must be enacted to furnish relief. Congress says, amen. President Roosevelt says this relief must be provided at once; that if there is not time to enact such a law in the present session of congress he will deem it his duty to call an extra session for the consideration of the subject. Whereupon congress sits up and takes notice of the situation for there is a rather general dislike upon the part of the members against remaining here after March 4, or coming back this spring or summer to wrestle with this problem.

The Remedy Is Not at Hand.

Up to the point of admitting that some action should be taken soon to give the little fellows a square deal in the matter of freight rates, the president and congress are unanimous. They agree as to the diagnosis, but when it comes to the treatment there is such a divergence of opinion that it seems an impossibility to arrive at any definite policy in the few weeks that remain before the expiration of this congress. There is no disposition to perform a surgical operation, as the president has repeatedly stated that this is a question that should be handled intelligently and with care, that the business interests of the country shall not be injured.

The railroads themselves will welcome a remedy that will cure the evil and at the same time not interfere with the operation of their lines. They do not pay rebates because they want to. In fact it is stated on very high authority that rebates are things of the past, practically speaking, and but few instances can be found where they are granted to any large shipper. But when they are granted, it is done solely to meet competition and to get what each road considers its fair share of the traffic. The proposition of all the big trunk lines is: Make the other fellow stop and we will.

No Plan Definitely Formed.

As an evidence of the lack of decision that exists in administration circles as to what the remedy should be, note the different lines upon which investigation is being pursued. The president is daily conferring with senators and members on the subject and he is likewise availing himself of the advice of the leading railroad men of the country. Yesterday A. J. Cassatt, president, and Samuel Rea, fourth vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad, were visitors at the White House and talked over the rebate question with President Roosevelt.

Secretary Morton of the navy department, a railroad man of prominence and experience, is out in a magazine article advocating the legalization of pooling as the best way to prevent rebates and give everybody a fair show. He suggests that railroads be permitted to form combinations by which each will get its pro rata share of business and then there will be no incentive to cut rates for anybody. In addition, he suggests, that the interstate commerce commission be clothed with power to revise any rate that appears to be unreasonable or unjust and he proposes the creation of a central court of transportation to which appeal may be had from the decisions of the interstate commerce commission. By this plan all pools and the rates they make would be certified to the commission which would have jurisdiction over such arrangements and thus the government would maintain a control over the transportation lines of the country that it could not have in any other way. Secretary Morton is strongly opposed to government ownership of railroads, which he says would be the beginning of industrial and political chaos. There is much to commend itself in the plan of Mr. Morton's, and no doubt it will be given close consideration by the committees of congress that will have to deal with this question. The important feature of it is that by legalizing pooling and permitting the railroads to enter into traffic combinations, the incentive to cut rates and grant rebates would be done away with.

Quarles-Cooper Bill Not Satisfactory.

And while this discussion of the subject is going on by President Roosevelt and members of his cabinet, the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce is holding hearings on the Quarles-Cooper bill, which is to clothe the interstate commerce commission with authority to arbitrarily fix freight rates. Leading railroad men who have testified before the committee have entered their protest against the passage of this bill or any other that gives the commission such extraordinary power. Samuel Spencer, president of the Southern railway, and authorized to speak for the New York Central, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, the Northern Pacific, the Illinois Central and the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western and other roads, declared that the remedy proposed in this bill would not be effective, for it would be just as easy to rebate under a rate fixed by the commission as it would under one fixed by the roads themselves. He claimed that all railroad officials agreed with the president that the highways of transportation must be kept open to all upon equal terms.

The committee of the senate, before which legislation on this subject will come, is that on commerce, of which Senator Elkins of West Virginia is chairman. Mr. Elkins is favorable to the proposition of President Roosevelt that something must be done, but he admits that up to this time no very comprehensive plan has been submitted that meets the approval of the leaders. Mr. Elkins does not think that congress can handle this matter at the present session and thinks it will either have to be considered by a special session or go over until the regular session.

Important Question Is Rates.

While there is a great difference of opinion as to the remedy that should be applied, it is certain that in time all of these theories will crystallize and out of them all will come a good and effective law that will accomplish just what the administration believes should be done. The trust question is not the bugaboo it was a few years ago. There is no general alarm at the large combinations of capital and the size of a corporation means no public nervousness. The great and important question to be solved is the equality of freight rates. If the manufacturer of steel in a small way can get his ore and coke and coal delivered at his works for the same rate that the Steel Corporation pays and can send his output to market at the same rates as his big competitor pays, then he has equal chance and there will be no such thing as a monopoly in the steel business, no matter how strong financially the big corporation may be.

The same holds true with the small manufacturer in other lines. All he can see is fairness in that he may have his raw material hauled to his works and his product delivered on the market at the same transportation rate a ton that other pay. The government owes it to him that he shall have this right and this is as far as the function of the United States extends in the matter.

It has only been within the past few years that congress and the country have appreciated the importance of interstate commerce and the regulation of it by the federal government. Time was, not many years ago, when rebates and special privileges to large shippers were the rule and not the exception. Now they are the exception and resorted to. The purpose of President Roosevelt is to wipe them out entirely and in this he has the support of his party in both branches of congress. He will "make the fund square with the word."

According to the Tax Estimates.

In spite of Thomas E. Watson, the rich are certainly growing richer and the poor are growing poorer. There are now only 20 thirty-mile acres in New York who have increased in assessable [illegible] in personal property. * * * New York believes that a good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and body in this town is ever ready to sit on his good name.—New York World.

TAX REVENUES ARE INFLATED

Levy for 1905 Was Kept Down by Making Fictitious Estimate.

EXCESS AMOUNTS TO $798,000

By inflating the estimated receipts from taxes about $798,000, the sub-committee on appropriations has been able to keep the tax levy for 1905 down to 12½ mills, when in reality it ought to be not less than 14⅛ mills to meet the appropriations which the sub-committee has approved in its secret sessions. The tax levy and appropriation bills were presented in common council yesterday and referred to the finance committee.

In its estimates of receipts for the coming year the sub-committee figures the receipts from the delinquent tax office will be $1,048,000 and it also makes the remarkable calculation that the amount of taxes that will become delinquent during the same period will be only $250,000, or a difference of $798,000, which is equal to 2 mills.

Last year and in former years when the tax levy and appropriation bills were prepared it was always estimated that the amount of delinquent taxes collected in a year would about equal the amount of taxes that would fall delinquent in the same time. The one about balanced the other and, therefore, in the last year no estimate of receipts from this source was made. The full amount of taxes levied was estimated in the receipts and nothing was counted upon to come from the delinquent tax office.

Deficit of $798,000.

This year the sub-committee has allowed for a loss of only 5 per cent, or $250,000, by taxes falling delinquent, although it is the experience that about 20 per cent of the taxes are uncollected. The tax levy this year is based upon a valuation of $400,000,000, which, at 12½ mills, produces $5,000,000. Only $250,000 of the amount is deduced for loss for uncollected taxes and $1,048,000 added for collections of delinquent taxes. The estimated receipts are as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| City taxes, 12½ mills based on $400,000,000 valuation | $4,750,000 00 |
| Water rents | 1,000,000 00 |
| Wharves | 14,000 00 |
| Mayor's office | 70,000 00 |
| Markets | 65,000 00 |
| Vehicle licenses | 65,000 00 |
| City gauger | 1,000 00 |
| Warrants from state | 286,280 00 |
| Liquor license | 510,000 00 |
| Interest on bank balances | 100,000 00 |
| Delinquent tax | 1,048,000 00 |
| Annuel car tax | 28,000 00 |
| City attorney | 50,000 00 |
| If like amount is appropriated to wipe out wash warrants | 928,697 14 |
| Miscellaneous | 175,000 00 |
| Received from state for firemen's disability board | 17,573 81 |
| Sale of engine house, Flist ward | 54,500 00 |
| Total | $9,208,000 95 |

The city levy is divided into a levy of 6 mills for current expenses and 6½ mills for sinking funds and interest on bonds. A special tax of 1¼ mills is levied for the Thirty-eighth ward, formerly Beltzhoover, and 2.9 mills for the Thirty-ninth ward, formerly Elliott. The appropriations, except for sinking funds and interest, are as follows:

BOOK OF MORMON A LOCAL PRODUCT

ORIGINAL RESEARCH SHOWN

Asking that he be considered as an attorney, endeavoring to establish that the history and doctrines of Mormonism have their foundations in Pittsburgh and that theologically Pittsburgh is responsible for Mormonism, the Rev. Dr. W. A. Stanton, pastor of the Shady Avenue Baptist church, last evening won his case before a jury composed of the men of St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal church.

Dr. Stanton's lecture or argument was delivered in the parish house of the church, and his audience was of good size. His address was filled with original material gained by many years of study of the sources of the Book of Mormon and the history of the men who founded the sect.

Dr. Stanton first described Joseph Smith's parentage, early life and character, drawing his facts from his own investigations. He told of Smith's use of a "seer stone" and "divining rod" and his reputation for finding things. He told of the angel's visits, revealing the hiding place of the books of sheets of gold at "Comorah" hill, near Palmyra, N. Y., with the spectacles that enabled him to understand "Reformed Egyptian," and of the four years' wait before Smith was allowed to take them out. He then told of the mysterious translation, Smith reading the book from behind a blanket curtain to a man who wrote down what Smith dictated.

Mysterious Sidney Rigdon.

Dr. Stanton then took up another character, Sidney Rigdon of Library, Allegheny county, 12 years older than Smith. He told of Rigdon's conversion and union with the Peters Creek Baptist church, his study of theology at Sharon and his ordination in 1819 at Warren, O. Rigdon returned to Pittsburgh and became pastor of the First Baptist church, but adopted the views of Alexander Campbell and was finally forced from the church. He moved to Bainbridge, O., and would disappear for long times from his home, explaining that he had been at Pittsburgh. He was known to have visited Smith at Manchester, N. Y., in May, 1829, and probably other times before that. In November, 1830, he was baptized as a Mormon and immediately preached the religion better than Smith himself.

Dr. Stanton then turned his attention to Solomon Spaulding, a Dartmouth college graduate in theology, who was a failure evidently as a preacher, and in 1809 was interested with his brother in a forge at what is now Conneaut, O. He was a writer also, and among his writings was a novel. This story was based upon the finding of a parchment roll in a stone box in a cave, which relates in Latin the adventures of Roman sea voyagers of the time of Constantine who were driven to America by a storm. One of them writes the record. He then traced this manuscript through its history and showed that it is undoubtedly true that this story, which survives as Spaulding wrote it, is but the first draft of a story somewhat similar but dated farther back and in biblical style.

Manuscript Stolen in Pittsburgh.

In 1812 Spaulding came to Pittsburgh with his rewritten manuscript and submitted it to Robert Patterson, a publisher, and was told to polish and finish it and furnish security to guarantee publishing expenses. He could not do this. He moved to Amity, Washington county, in 1814. He had it with him there and showed it to numerous friends. He finally took it back to the publishing firm and left it there. It was stolen, and before his death, in 1816, he repeatedly said he suspected Sidney Rigdon, then a young man, who loafed about the office with J. Harrison Lamdbin, an employe and later a partner of Patterson, and Silas Engles, the foreman of the office.

Dr. Stanton then showed how the manuscript was taken by Rigdon, and Smith was allowed to "have a revelation." A peddler, Perley Parker Pratt, was the link between Rigdon and Smith.

Dr. Stanton's address closed with an explanation of the basis of the Mormon teachings, and said that the "system" which has been developed at Salt Lake City is a standing threat, the full danger of which is just being grasped.

WASHINGTON INFANTRY GETS A FINE NEW BANNER

Will Carry $225 Flag in the Inaugural Parade and on Fiftieth Anniversary of Command.

The members of the Washington infantry will hoist a new banner in their armory on February 3, and at their celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the organization on Washington's birthday, will carry it at the head of their parade. On March 4 they will take it to Washington for the inaugural parade in which the company will have a conspicuous position in the line.

The new banner was presented to the organization by the ladies who for many years have given the soldiers their support. They raised $225 and a Philadelphia tailor has given them a flag of unusual beauty. On a field of deep blue silk is a garlanded portrait of Washington worked in silk of the richest hue. A deep gold fringe borders the flag, and long silk tassels decorate the staff.

The presentation will be made in Old City hall on the night of February 3, and an old-time minstrel show will be given for the entertainment of the guests. The fiftieth anniversary of the company will be observed with a banquet at the Colonial hotel on the evening of Washington's birthday, and some prominent military men will be invited as honorary guests.

SOUGHT COLD PLUNGE.

Lizzie Adley Tried to Jump from the Sixth Street Bridge.

Lizzie Adley, alias Brown, was arrested on the Sixth street bridge, near the Allegheny end, last night by Policemen Delehanty and Davis and sent to the Allegheny General hospital. Later she was sent to Central station and locked up.

The woman was seen loitering about the bridge and acting in a peculiar manner. Bridge Officer John P. Smith noticed the police, and they caught the woman just as she was mounting the rail, preparatory to making the leap into the river. It was thought at first that she had taken poison, as she was unable to stand. For this reason she was sent to the hospital. The physicians quickly discovered that the only poison she had swallowed was alcohol.

Elected Their Officers.

The McKeesport Policemen's Protective association yesterday held its annual meeting and elected the following officers: President, John S. Englert; first vice president, Arnold Knadler; second vice president, Frank Hoope; secretary, Joseph Hoffman; treasurer, R. Volk; trustees, George Maund, M. J. Donovan and John Kennedy.

Meat Prices Going Up.

Western packers have advanced prices to butchers on lamb and pork, and the other meats are expected to follow next week. The price has not affected the consumer as yet, but will be likely to hit him within a few days, as the retailer is not likely to continue doing business long on reduced prices.

BARRED OUT BABY WARD MEMBERS

Common Council Grants Councilmen from Thirty-Ninth But One Vote.

NEW CITY CLERKS ELECTED

The Thirty-ninth ward, formerly the borough of Elliott, caused an exciting time in common council yesterday afternoon. Five of the six councilmen of the borough presented themselves to be sworn in as representatives of the Thirty-ninth ward, but the Citizens majority adopted a motion that the new ward be allowed only one vote, and when the time came to designate who should cast the vote the council got into a snarl which it could not unravel. During the confusion a Citizens member moved an adjournment, and the Elliott members were not sworn in.

The Republican members made a persistent fight to have the Thirty-ninth ward members sworn in, but they were overruled by the majority and Acting President J. J. McKelvey. An appeal was taken from the decision of McKelvey, which he refused to put, and on the motion to limit the representation of the ward to one vote he refused to permit debate. This attitude so angered the Republicans that they refused to vote, and the motion was adopted by the votes of 22 Citizens.

New Ward Not Represented.

As the matter stands, the Thirty-ninth ward has no representation in councils, and will not have until the dispute is adjusted. No opinion on the matter has been furnished councils by the city solicitor. One of the councilmen from the new ward said yesterday the city solicitor had told him the ward was entitled to six votes in common council until the next municipal election. Director Bigelow opposed granting the Thirty-ninth ward more than one vote. Several of the councilmen from the Thirty-ninth ward declared on the floor of common council they would not be sworn in if each man only got a partial vote.

H. W. Minnemeyer, Jr., and John E. Gable had opposition for election as city clerk and assistant city clerk. The Republican members of common, supported by three or four of select council, named Sidney E. Foster of the Twentieth ward and Lawrence J. Sennott of the Fourteenth ward against Minnemeyer and Gable. E. J. Martin was a candidate for city clerk until just before councils met, when his name was withdrawn by Councilman John Upperman. Minnemeyer received 60 votes in joint session, Foster 19; Gable 59 and Sennott 20. The vote follows.

The Vote in Detail.

Select council—Minnemeyer, John Barry, P. J. Barry, Burns, Cassidy, Cavett, Costello, Douglass, Fruehstorfer, Frederick, Friedman, Hermes, Kearns, Lang, Lennox, W. H. McKelvy, Wm. McKelvey, Manion, Thomas O'Brien, W. D. O'Brien, Ruhlandt, Schempp, Schlernitzauer, Schneider, Sweeney, Upperman, West, Zollinger and Wightman, 28; Foster, Atkinson, Arnow and Walters, 5.

Common council—Minnemeyer, Bockstoce, Bole, Bonini, Bright, Collins, Crommilier, Dengler, Finerty, Frankel, Fullerton, Gulland, Hammer, Helmold, Hogue, Hughes, Joyce, Kalchthaler, Maslowski, Mathews, Myers, McKelvey, McNally, Pfannkuch, Porter, Rapp, Roentgk, Scott, Shenkan, Simon, Taylor, Walls and Zenger, 32; Foster, Bailey, Barr, Barton, Bergmann, Brand, Gibbon, Girdwood, Johns, Kohne, Lewis, Martin, Milby, Morin, McKnight, Perley and Wallace, 18.

Members absent—Booth, Edwards, Gallagher, Howarth, M. E. O'Brien, Semmelrock, R. B. Ward.

On the ballot for city clerk R. H. Douglas voted for Minnemeyer, but on the ballot for assistant clerk he did not vote at all. P. A. Manion voted for Minnemeyer and Sennott. P. F. Toole did not vote for city clerk, but voted for Gable for assistant. Upperman voted for Minnemeyer and Sennott. In common council J. M. Fullerton voted for Minnemeyer and Sennott. John Lewis voted for Foster and Gable. T. P. Wallace, Citizen, of the Thirty-third ward, voted for both Republican candidates. Each branch ratified the election.

To Enlarge Pension Fund.

The annual tax levy and appropriation bills were introduced in common council and referred to the finance committee. There was also introduced an ordinance providing that 25 per cent of all the fines and forfeitures from the police stations be donated to the police pension fund. This is in addition to the $30 placed by the city in the pension fund for each of the 500 employes of the police bureau every year. The object is to enlarge the fund so that the time limit for an employe to become eligible to a pension can be reduced from 25 to 20 years. An ordinance authorizing a contract for the construction of a bridge at Lincoln avenue, at $149,000, was presented.

John Hogue, common councilman from the Thirty-fourth ward, resigned to become a candidate on the Citizens ticket for select council, to succeed John J. Shenkel, elected to the legislature.

In select council bills were presented granting Pittsburgh rights of way for its filtration mains over the water mains of the city of Allegheny at Aspinwall and under the tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad at the same point.

Foreigners Go on Strike.

The 150 punchers and car riveters went on strike yesterday morning at the Pressed Steel Car Company's plant near McKees Rocks. They have been making about $1.50 a day and now that the works are running full time ask for more money, the exact amount not being stated. The workmen are mostly foreigners. If the strikers do not go back to work soon almost the whole plant will be forced to suspend, as these men get the materials for the other workmen.

May Demand Eight-Hour Day.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 13.—(Special.)—The executive committee of the Furnace Workers and Smelters' Union of America will meet at Buffalo tomorrow. President James McMahon left tonight for Buffalo to attend the meeting. It is likely that the committee will decide to demand an eight-hour day early in the spring.

Remnant Day at Rosenbaum Company Monday and Tuesday. See details in Sunday Gazette.

THIEVES BUSY IN ALLEGHENY

The North Side Police Fail to Find a Bold Mob of Criminals.

DARING SECOND STREET JOB

Thieves are busier than ever in Allegheny and are eluding the police, despite the fact that recently Director Scandrett added two men to his front office force. The eight men now doing plain-clothes work are kept busy making examinations of houses that have been robbed, but the mob that is doing the work is evidently a new one in Allegheny, as its methods of operating are strange to the veteran Thomas C. Johnston.

It is more provoking to the police, if less alarming to the public, that most of the jobs are done in daylight. Within the past three weeks several robberies have been reported each day at police headquarters, and few of them were committed after dark. Few of these robberies are made public.

One of the boldest house-breaking jobs reported for some time occurred yesterday afternoon at the residence of Fred Rittman, 707 Second street. The front door was forced open. Every room in the house and every cupboard and closet was ransacked. Trunks were turned upside down and bureau drawers emptied on the floors. The thieves took three gold watches, a watch fob with a diamond setting, two suits of clothes and three pairs of trousers, several pairs of gold cuff links and a small clock. There were, perhaps, other articles taken, but the list given is all that is known so far to be missing.

Mrs. Rittman left the house at 1 p. m. to call on one of her married daughters. She returned at 2:30 to find her house in confusion. A telephone message was sent to police headquarters at once, but late yesterday evening the family said no detective had been at the house.

Mrs. Josephine Ford, who lives next door, says that shortly after 1 o'clock a woman called and asked who lived in 707. Mrs. Ford told the woman, and the latter left after learning there was no one in the Rittman house.

When August Loch's jewelry store was entered several weeks ago, a woman answering the description furnished by Mrs. Ford acted as a "stall" for the two male thieves who tried to bunco one of Loch's clerks. A strange woman has figured in several roberies since.

Mrs. Rittman had about $80 in bills wrapped inside a quilt in one of the drawers of a bureau on the first floor. The quilt was dumped out on the floor, but the money was not discovered by the thieves.

The home of Jacob Michaels at 115 Harrison avenue, was entered yesterday morning while the family was out. Some clothes, a revolver and several boxes of cigars were carried away. The police investigated this case.

We Offer $1,000

For a Disease Germ That Liquozone Can't Kill.

On every bottle of Liquozone we offer $1,000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill. We do this to assure you that Liquozone does kill germs.

And it is the only way known to kill germs in the body without killing the tissues, too. Any drug that kills germs is a poison, and it cannot be taken internally. Medicine is almost helpless in any germ disease. It is this fact which gives Liquozone its worth to humanity; a worth so great that, after testing the product for two years, through physicians and hospitals, we paid $100,000 for the American rights. And we have spent over one million dollars, in one year, to buy the first bottle and give it free to each sick one who would try it—

Acts Like Oxygen.

Liquozone is not made by compounding drugs, nor is there any alcohol in it. Its virtues are derived solely from gas—largely oxygen gas—by a process requiring immense apparatus and 14 days' time. This process has, for more than 20 years, been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research.

The result is a liquid that does what oxygen does. It is a nerve food and blood food—the most helpful thing in the world to you. Its effects are exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying. Yet it is an absolutely certain germicide. The reason is that germs are vegetables; and Liquozone—like an excess of oxygen—is deadly to vegetal matter.

Liquozone goes into the stomach, into the bowels and into the blood, to go wherever the blood goes. No germ can escape it and none can resist it. The results are inevitable, for a germ disease must end when the germs are killed. Then Liquozone, acting as a wonderful tonic, quickly restores a condition of perfect health. Diseases which have resisted medicine for years yield at once to Liquozone, and it cures diseases which medicine never cures. Half the people you meet—wherever you are—can tell you of cures that were made by it.

Germ Diseases.

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs, and such results are indirect and uncertain. Liquozone attacks the germs, wherever they are. And when the germs which cause a disease are destroyed, the disease must end, and forever. That is inevitable.

Russia's Minister of Finance Submits the Nation's Budget for 1905.

WAR EXPENDITURE ENORMOUS

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 13.—In the imperial budget for 1905, the ordinary revenue is estimated at $988,522,894, and the extraordinary revenue at $8,794,319. The ordinary expenditure is estimated at $968,082,785, and the extraordinary expenditure at $39,284,342.

The ordinary revenue is thus estimated: Direct taxes, $60,080,677; indirect taxes, $169,916,250; duties, $52,062,187; state monopolies, $296,395,650; state domains, $289,997,448; miscellaneous sources, $179,837,596.

State debt, $151,509,695; holy synod, $14,476,-205; ministry of war, $188,627,423; ministry of marine, $88,318,525; ministry of finance, $170,-820,447; ministry of agriculture, $23,661,466; ministry of the interior, $54,301,918; ministry of instruction, $21,534,243; ministry of ways and communications, $224,140,652; ministry of justice, $24,447,314; ministry of imperial household, $8,083,900.

The finance minister's statement points out that by law of 1890 the budget includes no credits for war expenditure. The minister calculates that money, realized in the event of war continuing throughout 1905 is partly already available, while the remainder can be raised without difficulty. It is estimated that by the end of 1904 a total of $310,500,000 will be produced by the extraordinary war credits opened by all the departments of the administration, and that this will cover a portion of the expenditure for 1905. The ready cash in the imperial treasury January 1, 1904, amounts to $176,000,000, which by retrenchment in the state expenditure, the issue of treasury bills, etc., was raised to $358,700,000, which was utilized for war expenditure in 1904.

The extraordinary railway expenditure includes $5,000,000 for double tracking the Siberian railway, and an additional $000,000 assigned to the account of the trans-Baikal railway.

The minister's estimates are evidently based on the belief that the war has had no appreciable effect on commercial activity, and referring to the financial and economic position of the empire, he expressly states that all his data are calculated to strengthen rather than shake confidences in Russian finances. Although it is eleven months since the war began, the minister says the money system of the empire remains perfectly steady and the price of a rouble has not changed.

Through realizations on 5 per cent treasury bonds abroad the amount of gold in the treasury rose from $529,000,000 at the end of 1903 to $614,500,000 on July 14, 1904, and this amount had not decreased up to December 21. This condition of the gold reserve was a favorable symptom. The harvest of 1904 yielded 26,100,000,000 pounds, being 6.4 per cent in excess of the harvest of 1902.

The effect of the war has made itself principally felt in a decreased production of articles of luxury.

The value of Russian foreign trade the first 11 months of 1904 amounted to $687,500,000, falling but little short of the figures for the exceptionally favorable year of 1903.

The minister adds that no far-reaching disturbance of state and national economy has yet appeared, indicating the first year of the war has passed satisfactorily from an economic point of view, although the effect of the war on the country's economic condition is indisputable.

Over 68,000 Out and Rioting Occurs—Steel Industry Is Affected.

IRON WORKERS MAY JOIN

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

BERLIN, Jan. 14.—(3:30 a. m.)—The coal strike continues to spread, the leaders evidently losing control of the miners. Although the Essen conference on January 12 voted against further strikes until the mine owners' association returns its answer on January 16 to the demands of the conference, a number of meetings of individual miners' unions yesterday voted to join the strike.

The number of men now out has reached 88,858 at 90 shafts. The leaders are unable to control the strikers and keep peace. Yesterday, at the Concordia Company's mines at Oberhausen, 1,200 strikers stormed the operating plant when non-unionists were about to proceed to work, roughly used them and prevented them from entering the shaft. At Horst serious rioting occurred, strikers attacking gendarmie, police officers and men who were willing to work. Several arrests were made. Miners' wives held a great mass meeting at Langendreer, province of Westphalia, to encourage their husbands to carry the strike to success. One woman exhorted her hearers to place their hopes on prayer, but she was shouted down and hustled from the stage.

The Phoenix Company, one of the large steel producers in Germany, has sent a circular to its customers notifying them that the works have been shut down owing to the strike. The great steel syndicate also has published notice foreshadowing delay in meeting its contracts. Some signs of discontent among the iron workers have manifested themselves and possibly may lead to a strike.

WILL OF EX-GOV. LOWNDES.

Leaves Most of Estate Worth Several Million Dollars to Widow and Children.

CUMBERLAND, MD., Jan. 13.—(Special.)—The will of the late ex-Gov. Lloyd L. Lowndes was admitted to probate in the orphans court of this county today. To his wife, whom he makes executrix of his estate, he gives property valued at $250,000.

To his daughter Elizabeth he gives $50-000, to be held in trust, the interest of which is to be paid to her. Upon her death the principal will be divided equally among her children; if she has no children it will revert to the estate. To the Emmanuel Protestant Episcopal church he gives $2,500, and to John Brown, a servant, $300. All the rest of the estate is to be divided equally among his children, Lloyd, Richard, Charles T., William B., Elizabeth L. and Tasker G. Lowndes. The estate is valued at several million dollars.

FREW AGREES TO A CUT.

City Will No Longer Pay the Expenses of Maintaining the Carnegie Music Hall.

W. N. Frew, president of the Carnegie library board of trustees, had a talk yesterday with Chairman Helmold of the council sub-committee on appropriations relative to the library appropriation for this year. Mr. Frew agreed that the expenses of maintaining the music hall should be paid hereafter out of the receipts of the music hall, instead of the city paying the expenses.

As the expenses of the music hall are about $10,000 a year, this will enable a cut of $10,000 to be made in the estimate of $158,000, which was the amount the trustees asked the city to appropriate for both the library and music hall.

Former Policeman Was Arrested.

William McClintock of 1110 Bedford avenue, formerly sergeant at the Twelfth ward police station and later a patrolman in the downtown district, was arrested last night, charged with drunkenness. His left hand was badly cut and he told the police he had been attacked by a negro. The police say he was at his home and was amusing himself by smashing furniture.

MOET & CHANDON CHAMPAGNE

Leads All Brands.

The importation of Moet & Chandon Champagne into the United States in 1904 were 127,783 cases, placing them at the head of the importation list, being by far the largest quantity of any one brand ever imported into the United States.

The sales of Moet & Chandon in 1904, including foreign countries, were 336,430 cases, beating all records ever made. The quality of the celebrated brand of "White Seal" is unquestionably the finest dry Champagne ever imported.

The great strides from 40,148 cases in 1900 to 127,783 cases in 1904, show the positive approval of the wine-drinking public of the superior excellence of Moet & Chandon White Seal Champagne.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS WILL BE ERECTED

Congressional Committee Has Agreed on Expenditure of $10,000,000.

MONEY FOR NEARBY CITIES

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 13.

An agreement was reached today by which an omnibus public building bill carrying $10,000,000 will be introduced within a few days. This is exactly the amount recommended by Secretary of the Treasury Shaw and will take care of only the most urgent demands for public improvements. It is doubtful if there would have been any bill introduced during this session if it had not been for the secretary of the treasury's personal appeal for money to take care of the needs for large buildings in which to conduct the business of the government.

Propositions for 10 or 12 buildings which are located in the Pittsburgh district were before the committee today. Washington and Butler, Pa., have the indorsement of Secretary Shaw and are very likely to receive favorable consideration from the committee. It was stated today that an agreement had been reached by the sub-committee on an appropriation for Meadville for which Representative Bates has been industriously working. The other cities included in the list of those which may receive appropriations are Sewickley, Sharon, Johnstown, Connellsville, Beaver Falls, Charleroi, Greensburg, Youngstown and Marietta, O. It is said that the committee has agreed to appropriate $125,000 for the additions to the Youngstown building.

Representative W. O. Smith of Punxsutawney recommended William Reed for the postmastership of Ernese, Indiana county.

Lem H. Wilty, manager of the government Indian school band of Chilocco, Okla., announced today that he had signed a contract with the Pittsburgh Exposition Company for the appearance of this famous musical organization at the exposition next fall. The date has not been arranged, but it will probably be on the second or third week of the exposition. The band is composed entirely of full-blooded Indians and was one of the attractions of the St. Louis exposition.

A number of the Pittsburghers who are members of the local colony have obtained from the state of New York a charter for the "Lakewood Country club" at Lakewood, N. Y. The clubhouse is to be completed in time for the coming Chautauqua season.

Among the incorporators are Maj. William F. Aull, Charles S. Crawford, William R. Kuhn, Homer J. Lindsay, Charles A. McKeeley, Murry A. Verner and William Witherow. A. N. Broadhead of Jamestown, N. Y., and William L. Delchant of Middletown, O., are also incorporators.

Plumbers Disagree With Employers.

The conference yesterday between the journeymen and master plumbers terminated in a disagreement over the expiration of the present scale. The scale stipulated that in order to effect a change notice should be given by either parties 90 days previous to the changes taking effect. The master plumbers notified the journeymen December 16 that a change was desired, and the journeymen claim the new scale cannot become effective until March 16. By that time an understanding will be reached.

WILL TAKE FREE HAND IN CHINA

COUNT CASSINI CALLS ON HAY

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 13.

Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, today notified Secretary Hay that Russia has specific evidence of violation of neutrality by the Chinese. A formal note setting forth the violations will later be presented. This is Russia's notice that she will take a free hand to protect her own interests against pro-Japanese tendencies on the part of China.

Although the great powers have all been similarly notified, the conference between the secretary and the ambassador here today was the most important probably which has been held since the war began. The situation is peculiar, because the state department is declared to be without any advices showing unrest and anti-foreign agitation of violation of neutrality in China.

PARIS, Jan. 13.—Russia's note addressed to the powers, relative to China's breaches on neutrality, gives what Russia claims to be absolute proof. The three main complaints are:

First—The islands of Miaotao in the straits of Pechili, opposite Port Arthur, have been constantly used by the Japanese without Chinese interference, as a strategical base and as a harbor for Japanese torpedo boats.

Second—The Chinese army on the border has accepted the command of Japanese officers.

Third—Chinese firms have been constantly working in behalf of the Japanese, supplying them with provisions, military accoutrements and general war stores.

Officials here view the note as designed to give Gen. Kuropatkin larger liberty of action against the Chinese, but as not endangering the general condition of Chinese neutrality as laid down in the Hay note.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 14.—Russia's formal notification to the powers of imminent danger of a general uprising in China as a result of the Japanese in China, will threaten all interests. Coupled with general protest against China's repeated violation of neutrality in connection with Japanese operations, it is really a warning to the powers that Russia considers that the time has come for joint action by the powers for the protection of their own interests.

For herself, Russia considers Japan has broken the pledge she made with respect to Secretary Hay's note at the beginning of the war, and further persistence in this course will, she considers, absolve her from further observance and leave her free to act for her own protection. Should Gen. Ma or any Chinese troops now move, Russia will feel free herself to cross the Liao river into the neutral zone.

In diplomatic circles great importance is attached to the note, and in the general opinion it is designed to induce Secretary Hay to initiate steps to bring joint pressure to bear in order to prevent the extension of the zone of activities.

Mines Closed by High Water.

The rise in the Monongahela river at Dravosburg has closed the coal road at that place and a serious inundation is feared. The mines were compelled to shut down and about 200 men were thrown out of work. A large amount of coal is ready for shipment that cannot be taken out of the mines until the water recedes.

Brakeman Dies of Injuries.

BUTLER, Jan. 13.—(Special.)—Charles L. Crawford, a brakeman on the Pittsburgh, Bessemer & Lake Erie railroad, this evening fell beneath a car and received injuries from which he died. Crawford was 25 and leaves a widow and parents at Kaylor.

BREAKING BANK BY MACHINERY

Englishman Using a Mechanical Device to Play Roulette at Monte Carlo.

BEATS ALL THE SYSTEMS

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

MONACO, Jan. 13.—Whether or not success attends the attempt now being made by an Englishman named Wall to break the bank at Monte Carlo with the aid of a novel "luck machine" invented by him there is no doubt that his invention is the most successful thing of the kind ever tried at Monaco. Up to now Wall has backed his machine against the roulette tables at the Casino at 23 sittings. During 13 of these he has won and on 10 occasions lost and his play, which so far has been rather of an experimental nature, has resulted in winnings to the extent of $625. His operations are watched daily by crowds of people and telegrams congratulating him on his success are coming to him from all parts of the continent.

Wall, who is well known in London as a sportsman, claims that with his machine he can win 10 per cent a day for life, at roulette, or break the bank in a day. His machine is an innocent looking little silver box about six inches long and three broad. It is flat and on its face are 16 openings about the size of a ten cent piece. Under each opening is to be seen a number and the numbers are variously colored red and black. By touching a spring all the 16 change in an instant and as they change the player makes his bet.

Work of Fifteen Years.

This luck machine is the result of 15 years' experimenting on the part of its inventor. Wall says that ever since he was a boy he has been interested in the mathematical laws of chance and that his chief ambition in this connection was to discover some means of neutralizing, if not beating, the turn in favor of the bank at roulette. Not until 12 months ago, however, did he hit on the idea which is embodied in the machine with which he is now experimenting.

"I have studied every known system," he says, "and have found their weak points. I have invented a machine to fight a machine. It does away with the laws of chance and by its use I can stand a week of steady bad luck without exceeding a loss of a moderate capital."

Wall chose Christmas eve for starting his fight against the roulette tables at Monte Carlo. About the middle of the evening he entered the Casino and sitting down at one of the tables produced a quantity of silver coins and the "luck machine" whose performances are now the chief topic of conversation here. He followed the play at the tables for a short time, closely watching the discs of his machine, and then played and won. Then he changed the discs by touching a spring on the box, played, and won a second time, whereupon a crowd gathered around his chair.

Caused Croupiers to Fidget.

The croupiers fidgeted and stared while Wall went on consulting his box before each bet and winning on the game. As he went on, the crowd grew larger and several officials of the Casino also gathered to see the play. Having completed a hundred bets the sportsman picked up his machine and his winnings which amounted to $200, and left the room.

Wall's worst luck with his machine came to him on the day after Christmas when for two hours he played with all the chances dead against him. Zero turned up three times and Wall, who began by staking $1 at a time, was ultimately obliged to stake $125 at each bet. Clicking his machine imperturbably, however, he went on with what seemed an almost impossible battle, fought his way back almost to the starting point and at the close was only $50 to the bad.

Old players here declare that they have never seen anything like Wall's play, and are of opinion that the experience just described would have broken him if he had played any known system. The officials at Monte Carlo requested the Englishman to exhibit the machine to them, and he complied with their request.

No Attempt to Stop Him.

It is believed that they are not entirely at ease regarding what Wall may accomplish when he begins really serious work, but thus far they have made no attempt to prevent him from using his invention.

Wall says that his "luck machine" represents the play of 64 persons fighting simultaneously against the bank on a preconcerted plan, each move of each of the players being decided beforehand. He says that it was impossible mentally to control this number of players and that he first experimented with eight, but even this proved unsatisfactory as eight sets of calculations could not be made between each turn of the wheel. So he determined to invent a machine which would make the calculations mechanically. He says that if 63 of his players lose and one of them wins he comes out even. If 62 lose and two win, he wins 64 units on the balance. The game can be played with anything from a $1 to $20 unit, and unlike all other systems, its inventor says, it never runs into really big figures even under the worst of bad luck. Wall's exact method of play he keeps a secret, but his plan is to gamble on all the simple chances at roulette. He ignores "zero," which he says does not affect the ultimate issue.

CROKER BEGINS CRUSADE ON THE FIREWORKS EVIL

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Chief Edward F. Croker of the New York fire department has recommended steps be taken to prohibit fireworks, except firecrackers, on July 4. He makes the exception because he finds great stocks of firecrackers are in the shops, and aboard ships now on their way to this country, and to prohibit their use on such short notice would work great hardship. He recommends, however, that at the end of another year the prohibition be extended to firecrackers.

During the week of July 4, 1904, Chief Croker says, there were 305 fires in Greater New York, of which 128 were traceable to fireworks, while 846 persons were injured by fireworks last Independence Day.

New York is the largest fireworks market in the country. The industry is said to represent an annual expenditure in this city of $2,000,000.

ZION MOVEMENT GROWS.

Jacob De Haas Speaks of Its Development in the South and Southwest.

Jacob deHaas, one of the leading Zionists and secretary of the Federation of American Zionists, lectured last night before the Jewish history class of the Zionist council of Pittsburgh at the institute in Center avenue. His theme was Jewish history.

Mr. De Haas spoke of his recent tour through the leading cities of the south and middle west.

In all those cities, he said, he found the Zionist movement growing, and the reformed Jews embracing the movement.

"During my tour," he continued, "I spoke in 10 reformed temples in the south, and the gathering of the Jewish people in them was greater than since their foundation stones were laid."

Mr. De Haas will be tendered a reception this evening by the Herzl Daughters of Zion and the Lebanon Zion society. Tomorrow afternoon and evening the Tipheveth Zion society and the Daughters of Zion will entertain him.

BALLOT BOXES ARE TURNED OVER

WAR VETERANS HOLD MEETING

The Republican organization of Allegheny city once more has possession of the primary election boxes. They were delivered to Vice Chairman John Henderson yesterday by Safety Director Scandrett of the public safety department and are now in Republican headquarters in East Diamond street. The boxes will be turned over to the district chairmen in the 88 election precincts of the city to be used in the primary next Saturday.

Since January, 1903, the boxes have been held by the Citizens party leaders. They were taken at the time of the Wyman-Woodburn fight, and since then have been stored in the basement of Carnegie library. As there has been no primary election in Allegheny since there has been no need to use them.

Mr. Henderson called up Director Scandrett on the telephone yesterday and asked tha tthe boxes be turned over to the Republican organization. Scandrett promptly granted the request and went so far as to visit Mr. Henderson in Republican headquarters. The meeting was a most harmonious one. When asked last night if his call at Republican headquarters meant that peace had been declared between the warring political factions in Allegheny, Scandrett said:

"I called there on business. My visit had no political significance"

The War Veterans' association of Allegheny held its annual meeting at headquarters in North Diamond street last night. Congressman William H. Graham made the principal address and declared that when he became the representative of the Forty-ninth district in congress he would have something to say regarding the appointment of the postmaster of Allegheny.

"I assure you I shall name an old soldier for the position," said Mr. Graham.

Resolutions were passed indorsing Maj. A. B. Hay as a candidate for judge of the county courts, Francis J. Torrance and Frank L. Blair for councils in the Second ward and Capt. John A. Reed for clerk of courts. Maj. Hay and Mr. Blair made short addresses. The following officers were elected for the year: President, William T. Bradberry; first vice, Maj. H. K. Tyler; second vice, A. D. Armstrong; third vice, George I. Rudolph; secretary, Thomas G. Sample; assistant secretary, J. A. V. Hoag; treasurer, John L. Shook.

Candidates for ward officers in the Twelfth, Fourteenth and Fifteenth wards, Allegheny, last night qualified to the city Republican committee as follows:

Twelfth Ward—Common council, two to elect, William H. Sarver, Fred Hering and John Stewart; school director, two to elect, L. E. Umstead, Christ. Reukauf and William Hoegel; ward assessor, Jacob Martin; constable, O. F. Mills and John Simon.

Fourteenth Ward—Select council, Fred Tschume, Philip Rafferty and Otto Greenawaldt; common council, one to elect, Samuel F. Boyd; school directors, two to elect, Louis Schaeffer and Charles Winkler; constable, Charles Ness; ward assessor, Charles Schereck and Jacob Snyder.

Fifteenth Ward—Select council, Enoch James and Harry B. Naylor; common council, one to elect, J. W. McDonagh; school director, two to elect, the Rev. D. S. Kennedy and George L. Krall; ward assessor, J. H. Stewart; constable, George E. Webb.

FOUND HUMAN BLOOD ON TUCKER'S CLOTHES

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Jan. 13.—Blood-stained exhibits, including the clothing worn by the victim and the defendant on the day Mabel Page was murdered, and the knife with which the prosecution alleges the killing was done, figured today in the trial of Charles L. Tucker, accused of the crime.

President E. S. Wood of Harvard university, an expert blood analysist, was examined. He testified human blood had been found on Tucker's overcoat and trousers, as well as on the knife with which the wounds on Miss Page's body could, he said, have been made. Arterial blood was found on the overcoat and knife only.

A plaster cast of Tucker's teeth was introduced, and the dentist by whom it was made testified the cast fitted indentations in a knife sheath owned by the defendant, and said by the prosecution to have been held in the defendant's teeth while he was stabbing his victim.

HABIT'S CHAIN

Certain Habits Unconsciously Formed and Hard to Break.

An ingenious philosopher estimates that the amount of will power necessary to break a life-long habit would, if it could be transformed, lift a weight of many tons.

It sometimes requires a higher degree of heroism to break the chains of a pernicious habit than to lead a forlorn hope in a bloody battle. A lady writes from an Indiana town:

"From my earliest childhood I was a lover of coffee. Before I was out of my teens I was a miserable dyspeptic, suffering terribly at times with my stomach.

"I was convinced that it was coffee that was causing the trouble and yet I could not deny myself a cup for breakfast. At the age of 36 I was in very poor health, indeed. My sister told me I was in danger of becoming a coffee drunkard.

"But I never could give up drinking coffee for breakfast although it kept me constantly ill, until I tried Postum. I learned to make it properly according to directions, and now we can hardly do without Postum for breakfast, and care nothing at all for coffee.

"I am no longer troubled with dyspepsia, do not have spells of suffering with my stomach that used to trouble me so when I drank coffee." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

HUSTLED DUKE TO INSANE ASYLUM

Wealthy Tobacconist Made Vain Outcry for His Lawyer, But Was Hushed Up.

DOCTOR SAYS THE MAN IS SANE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Jan. 13.

Struggling in the hands of half a dozen attendants and making vain efforts to call for his counsel, Brodie L. Duke, the wealthy tobacco manufacturer, was dragged out of the county court house in Brooklyn at the conclusion of the habeas corpus proceeding instituted in his behalf today, and placed in a carriage which whisked him away to a private insane asylum in Amityville, L. I.

"Let me go. Let me go," he shouted when he realized that he was going to be taken away without having a chance to talk to his lawyer or secretary. "I want to see my lawyer; I want to see my wife," he exclaimed.

The man of millions was hustled into the vehicle while three attendants of the asylum followed him inside and pulled down the blinds. Then the driver of the carriage whipped his horses to their utmost speed, and soon disappeared from sight of those who had witnessed the exciting scene.

Appearing by his demeanor, actions and speech to be perfectly sane and thoroughly cognizant of what was going on around him, Duke, who has been confined in the Sanford Hall sanitarium at Flushing for the last two weeks, was brought before Judge Gaynor in the supreme court, Brooklyn, in answer to a writ of habeas corpus obtained by his private secretary, W. G. Bramham. The hearing was adjourned until next Thursday by Judge Gaynor at the request of Delancey Nicoll, the attorney representing the relatives of Duke.

Duke was then examined by three physicians appointed by Judge Gaynor in the interest of Mr. Bramham. They are to report to the court next Thursday. At the conclusion of the examination, however, one of the physicians, who would not allow his name to be used, said:

"Mr. Duke is assuredly in his right mind. His only trouble is that he is still weak physically. His mental aberration, when it comes on, is induced only by the use of liquor, and not from any disease of the brain."

NACOGDOCHES, TEX., Jan. 13.—(Special.)—Indictments were found last September by the grand jury for Nacogdoches against Charles F. Taylor and Alice L. Webb, charging them with swindling. These true bills have been kept in a pigeon hole by the sheriff, awaiting the return of the defendants to the state. The district attorney will now apply for requisition papers, since Miss Webb has seen fit to threaten people here, who hold bills for large sums.

After his return to Amityville, Mr. Duke held a two-hour conference with his private secretary, W. G. Bramham, and Lawyer Champe S. Andrews. Later Mr. Andrews said:

Mr. Duke learns for the first time today, through the press, of an appeal which his wife or those representing her have taken. He also learns today for the first time of the shocking charges which have been made freely against his wife. He has retained me to probe the charges to the bottom, and if they should prove false, to take immediate steps to redress the wrong done him and his wife.

If they should prove true he will do the best he can to redress the wrong done him. He expresses confidence in his ability to satisfy any tribunal competent to try the issue of his sanity that he is fully able to discharge all the duties incumbent on a man in his station of life.

While he regrets to bring his family's name into so unfortunate an affair, he deems it only proper to state that some years ago he forbade his son Lawrence, the petitioner in the committment proceedings, any access to him.

He intends, if he is discharged, to pursue as relentlessly as the court will permit those who have been guilty of depriving him of his liberty and attempting to deprive him of his honor and reputation.

REV. W. HOWARD FLORY

Pe-ru-na Has a German Baron's Heartiest Indorsement.

Baron J. M. Vendenheim 1225 G street N. W., Washington, D. C., writes:

"For a long time, until I came into this climate, I had congratulated myself upon having a perfectly sound pair of lungs. But I began to have little coughs and annoying colds that shook my faith in my breathing apparatus. This continued two winters until I had lost health and strength to an alarming degree. Peruna cured me and restored my strength. You are at liberty to use my heartiest indorsement of Peruna as a medicine and tonic for colds, coughs and as a tonic."—J. M. Vendenheim.

A Letter to Catarrh Sufferers.

Miss Mary Crawley, Treasurer LaGrange Kosmos Club 241 Madison avenue, LaGrange Ill., writes:

"I trust everyone suffering from systemic catarrh will read this letter, and will profit by it. I was in a very bad shape indeed when I began to take Peruna, and my friends, as well as myself, were very much alarmed over my condition. I was nervous, slept badly, my food did me no good and I was always tired.

"I took three bottles of Peruna and felt like a new woman. However, I did not stop there, and kept on taking it for a while longer and broke off gradually until I had taken eight bottles. Then I felt completely cured and have remained so since. I am glad to recommend Peruna."—Mary Crawley.

Rev. Flory Much Pleased With Pe-ru-na.

Rev. W. Howard Flory, 5213 S. Broadway, Los Angeles, Cal., a minister with Progressive Brethren, a branch of the Dunkards, also a lecturer and a leader in reform movements in connection with capital and labor, writes:

"I am very much pleased with Peruna, as it cured me of catarrh, which I had suffered with for many years, and which I thought I would never be rid of. All the medicines I had taken only relieved me for a short time and I was pretty discouraged when I began using Peruna.

"A few doses convinced me it was doing me much good, and when it finally cured me and there was no catarrh left in my system it seemed all too good. I find that my cure is permanent and I shall guard against another case of catarrh by taking Peruna as soon as I contract a cold."—W. Howard Flory.

Pe-ru-na Has Many Friends.

Miss Eleanor M. Gardner, 155 State street, Salem, Ore., writes:

"I am very pleased with the results obtained from the use of Peruna. A few months ago I contracted a severe cold and cough. After using a little more than two bottles of Peruna the cold left me entirely.

"I shall know just what to take now when I contract a cold and will not let it get such a hold on my system. Your medicine has many friends and well deserved."—Eleanor M. Gardner.

As Sure as Fate.

There are some things which are as sure as fate, and can be relied on to occur to at least one-half of the human family unless means are taken to prevent.

Second, catarrh improperly treated is sure to make life short and miserable.

The Destructive Power of Catarrh

Catarrh spares no organ or function of the body. It is capable of destroying sight, taste, smell, hearing, digestion, secretion, assimilation and excretion.

The Curative Powers of Pe-ru-na.

There is no fact in medical science better established than that a teaspoonful of Peruna before each meal will absolutely protect a person from catching cold. Now, if this is true (and there is no doubt of it) thousands of lives would be saved and tens of thousands of cases of chronic catarrh prevented by this simple precaution within reach of every one.

Thousands of Testimonials.

We have on file many thousand testimonials like the ones given here. We can only give our readers a slight glimpse of the vast array of unsolicited indorsements we are receiving every month. No other physician in the world has received such a volume of enthusiastic letters of thanks as Dr. Hartman for Peruna.

Suffered Several Years—Health Restored by Pe-ru-na.

Mrs. Elizabeth Reuther, 907 West Fayette street, New York city, member board of directors North End Civic association, writes:

"I am pleased to indorse Peruna as a splendid medicine for catarrh and stomach trouble from which I suffered for several years. I took it for several months and at the end of that time found my health was restored and I have felt splendidly ever since. I now take it when I contract a cold and it soon rids the system of any catarrhal tendencies."—Elizabeth Reuther.

TO KEEP PLATT OUT OF SENATE

Battle Creek Man Will Ask Supreme Court for a Restraining Order.

SUBVERTS THE PUBLIC WEAL

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—At a meeting of the Postal Progress league in Cooper Union tonight, Chairman C. W. Post of Battle Creek, Mich., said he has prepared papers and will ask the United States supreme court for a restraining order to prevent Senator Thomas C. Platt from taking his seat. He said he would do this on the ground that Senator Platt subverts the interests of the people he has sworn to represent in the interests of a corporation he really represents. The matter relates to parcels post.

Mr. Post made his announcement in the course of a speech entitled "Our Errand Boy." After having referred to the postal deficit, and the fact that the people of the country pay annually to the railroads $40,000,000, Mr. Post said:

Senator T. C. Platt of New York is president of the United States Express Company. Word was passed around to other senators that no definite action should be taken on the post check money bill. Senator Platt was approached by my representatives to learn his attitude, and he clearly declared he was opposed to the measure because it was contrary to the interests of the express companies.

In other words, after having taken oath of office to represent to the best of his ability the people of New York, Senator Platt ignores their interests where those interests conflict with his company and would directly affect his own earnings. In still further words, he is drawing two salaries, one from the express company and the other from the people.

I have the papers prepared, and will ask the supreme court at Washington for a restraining order to prevent Senator Platt from occupying his seat in the senate on the grounds he does not fulfill his duties according to his oath of office and that he subverts the interests of the people whom he has sworn to represent.

Senate Makes Public the Letter of President Roosevelt on the Arbitration Treaties.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—The senate today made public the letter of the president to the senate regarding the arbitration treaties sent to the senate December 13, 1904. In this letter the president says in part:

"The conventions do not go so far as I could wish in scope and object, but they form, taken together, a very important step in the progress of the world toward a policy of peaceful solution of such differences as cannot be conveniently settled by diplomatic negotiation. Their very limitations, which seem objectionable to many advocates of a policy of arbitration, are not without compensating advantages. They commit none of the contracting parties to any action in opposition to their national interests, their policy or their aspirations. Their principal value is that they constitute a considerable advance in the direction of the purpose so ardently desired of the reign of universal peace and good will.

Deny Report of Massacre.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 13.—The authorities of the Kongo Independent state deny the report circulated Wednesday by the Taglische Rundschau of Berlin of the massacre of whites and Catholic missionaries in the upper reaches of the Kongo river. They suggest that the rumors arose from troubles in the neighborhood of Laebo, where missionaries and traders were threatened as a result of the agitation of Fetish priests.

FRAMING BILLS ON FREIGHT RATES

TO BE PRESSED FOR ACTION

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.
Room 16, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 13.

Representatives Esch of Wisconsin and Townsend of Michigan, Republican members of the interstate commerce committee of the house, were in conference until a late hour tonight framing a bill to meet the views of the president in the matter of railroad legislation. When this bill is completed it will be taken to Attorney General Moody for inspection and will be pressed for action in the committee.

At the same time Col. Hepburn, chairman of the committee, with the assistance of Representative Stevens of Minnesota, a majority member, is preparing a measure. All four are working toward increased powers for the interstate commerce commission, but the Hepburn bill is not expected to go so far as that being drawn by Mr. Esch and Mr. Townsend.

Meantime, Senator Dolliver of the senate interstate commerce committee is preparing a bill for introduction in the senate on Monday increasing the powers of the interstate commission in the matter of railroad rates, subject to review by United States circuit judges to be designated by the president.

Spencer Renews His Attack.

Samuel Spencer, president of the Southern railway, continued his argument against the Quarles-Cooper bill before the house committee. Mr. Spencer taking up the increase in the receipts of railroads in 1903 of $155,000,000 over the year 1899, emphasized again that the year 1899 was the lowest rate period in the history of railroading. He said that if the character of the tonnage had been precisely the same during the years 1899 and 1903 there would not have been the $155,000,000 difference in rates. There are, however, fluctuations going on in classification all the time, but these reclassifications have not resulted in increasing rates.

Answering a question as to whether there would be any objection to a uniform classification of freight throughout the country, Mr. Spencer said there might be, although it would, without doubt, throw the rates of certain railroads out of line. If it was done violently and suddenly, it would result in a commercial upheaval. The putting of freight into classes to avoid a rate on every commodity, he said, had been a matter of evolution, certain groups of roads had worked out their own classification and to disturb it would mean a general readjustment of rates.

Want Rebates Forbidden.

Answering Representative Richardson of Alabama, Mr. Spencer said: "Speaking unofficially for, I might say, 75 per cent of the railroads of the country, I assert that you cannot make a law forbidding rebates too drastic to suit us.

"No well-managed road now gives rebates," he continued, "and any method to absolutely prohibit the practice would be welcomed by the railroads."

Asked as to what power the interstate commerce commission had regarding rates, Mr. Spencer said:

"It has power to state what is an unreasonable rate, and we have the right to test that assertion in the courts."

The conferring of the power to declare what is a reasonable rate, he maintained, would be prejudicial to the commercial interests of the country. Confessing that he had not read the pending bill with the idea that it granted authority to the commission to raise rates in naming a "reasonable rate," Mr. Spencer said that in his mind such authority would be carried in the measure. But he doubted if the authority would ever be exercised. He indicated that the readjustment would uniformly be a reduction in rates.

Carriers, he said, did not expect an arm of the government to help them to raise or maintain rates, but they ought to be left free to co-operate with each other in the way of making "reasonable agreements" among themselves. These agreements should be made public if necessary. It was indispensable that carriers should know what each other was doing on a rate on any particular commodity.

"If legislation is to take place in any form," he continued, "and we hope it will not be in this form, it should include something that will insure stability of rates, and that those rates should be high enough to remunerate the carrier for service performed. In this connection there are three, four or five statements in reports of the interstate commerce commission that there are many instances in this country where rates are entirely too low."

"The man does not live," asserted Mr. Spencer, "who can draft a law that will grant authority to any body of men that can be exercised effectively to abolish discrimination between localities. It is impossible to do away with complaint of discrimination on the part of localities."

Declares His Preparations for Death Are But Customs of Scandinavian Forbears.

REFERENCE TO PITTSBURGHERS

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

GREENSBURG, Jan. 12.—Dr. Frank Cowan, who in his three score years has been private secretary to President Andrew Johnston, physician, lawyer, poet, composer of music, lecturer and historican, who is said to be approaching his end at his country home near Greensburg, has given out the following:

"Dear Sir—Please reproduce at your convenience the following paragraph, which appeared on Saturday the 7th inst., and append my comments thereon, which I promise you will be as fresh, original and readable as if they had been written 30 years ago by either of my newspaper pals, 'Ras' Wilson or John Hazlet—when the former came sliding down the buttery slopes of Washington county and could not stop until he bumped against the big hills about Pittsburgh, and the latter, for aught I know to the contrary, like a 17-year locust at maturity, came up out of the ground, threw off his overcoat and went to work:

What Was Written of Him.

Greensburg, Pa., Jan. 6.—Dr. Frank Cowan, lecturer, traveler, author and historian, who made three trips around the world, is nearing death at Mt. Odin park, near here, where he lives alone. Yesterday he had placed in his room a rude coffin made of ordinary flooring boards by John Walthour, a carpenter. The box is without a lid.

Although possessing considerable wealth he has directed that his body, when he dies, be placed therein and carried to a grave already prepared in a remote corner of his beautiful park.

The doctor has directed that quicklime be poured into the grave, fully covering the box, and that the hole be then filled up with clay. He is particularly anxious that the expense of his burial shall not exceed $15. The box cost $2 and the grave $4, and the time, it is expected, will not cost more than $2.

"An old journalist is ever and everywhere the jest of the young, and as, in the brave of Burg of Greene, only Jim Laird and I have attained the age of mellowness, not infrequently we are made the butts of the most fantastic jibes and jokes by the unripe, the raw, and the rancid in our rear—as, in the above, I have been with the wit of a mud turtle, and the occasion which ever a natural ninny is sure to find—at the wrong time.

Afflicted With Grippe.

"Now it is true I am sick—very sick; and have been for 10 months—afflicted originally with the grippe, and suffering since with the variable consequences of that diabolic disease. Now, in this great length of time and with this especially protean malady, I have been going up and down, like the old proverbial sucker in a pump stock or the new boy in an elevator; and betimes I have been reported dying, dead, damned or saved—the last especially after a visit from the Rev. Stanley L. Krebs, the noted divine and celebrated lecturer and my very particular friend, who comes to see me now and then to report his experiences in sleeping in a tent in zero weather and discuss German etymologies.

"Now, as to the 'box' which Mr. Walthour has made for me. It is in reality a symbolic boat, and an object so curious, interesting and instructive that a small volume might be written on it. It is modeled, crudely, after several of the 'clinker'-built boats, which have been dug from the peat bogs of northwestern Europe and are now preserved in the museums of Christiania and elsewhere in the north. And so modeled and symbolic, every part of it, from the mare's head in the prow to the red paint on every part of it and its contents, two oars and a trident of peculiar shape, is one thing to the eye and another to the understanding.

"In a word it represents the fireship of our old sea-roving (and bellmes piratical) forebears at the time the old and the new religions were interblended more or less. It symbolizes the fireboat in which the dead body of a Berserker, or Viking, was placed by his friends and attendants, fired, and then set adrift, with an ebbing tide in the illimitable ocean of the west—with these all involving ideas in the act—that the dead, simulating the setting or dying sun, in a blaze of glory, might sink into the west, to be born again? Yea, verily, in due time to reappear in the east, like another sun—or, otherwise, resurrected.

"Now, in my complex ancestry there must have been a pre-potent strain of those sea-faring Northmen. Certainly I have a strong propensity for sea-roving and piracy, perhaps also, but suppressed by my early Sunday school training. The Edda was one of the first books to interest and excite my imagination in childhood, and the first of my literary successes, and the most remarkable, was the Runic Hoax, written at the age of 25—a fiction which made Joseph Henry, the head of the Smithsonian institution, my first client; when I hung out my shingle as a lawyer in Washington—that made Professor Wormaeo, the distinguished archaeologist of Denmark, my helpful friend—that made M. Quatrefages, the celebrated savant of France, insert my fiction as fact in his great work, already published in several languages on the Human Species—that, in a word, has associated me, if not identified me with the Scandinavians for nearly 40 years.

Poems on Scandinavian Subjects.

"A half score of my worst poems—or best, as my discoverer as a poet some day shall determine—are on Scandinavian subjects. I call my suburban highland farm, Mt. Odin park. I call my residence Valhalla, or the Hall of the Chosen. And, moreover, in the overwork on my dictionary from the point of view of an anthropologist which made me an easy prey to la grippe, I have solved (to my satisfaction) a score or more of the etymologic enigmas of the Norsemen, such as Ygdrasill, Berserker and Odin. Accordingly, in the expression of my individuality—or a great part of it—for many years and somewhat in exultation and somewhat in the revelation, of my status in religion, but more especially in the expression of a sick man's fancy, I have had the symbolic boat constructed and everything put in shipshape and Bristol fashion for my symbolic sailing away over the mountainous billows of the great sea of Appalachia and symbolic sinking in a blaze of glory in the west, etc., etc.

"An effigy or stuffed Paddy may be substituted for my emaciated carcass in the symbolic boat. No matter. It is the idea involved, and not the object. And afterward, as my nearest of kin may see fit, they may place amble my moulder ing remains in a gold plated casket in a marble mausoleum rivaling that of Gen. Grant, or ship them to the Hawaiian Islands and have them cremated in the Hell of Halemaumau.

Must Be at Their Expense.

"But it must be at their own expense; for my residuary legatee being the state of Pennsylvania, all the watchdogs of the treasury will be on guard to see that the money to meet the exactions of Thompson's decision, with respect to certain judicial salaries, be not weighed in the scales and found wanting.

"And now a word about the scarehead of the article on which I am commenting, that, to the expression of my avarice as a misanthropic hoarder on a bill of fare, I have limited my funeral expenses to $15. And that certainly looks like the proverbial 30 cents. And especially to a man who has fixed no limit in his last will and testament; a man who has tramped over a great part of Europe with such fellow hobos as Henry C. Frick, A. W. Mellon, and A. A. Hutchinson—who is about to publish a novel entitled 'The Millionaire' and inscribed to Andrew Carnegie, the chieftain of the clan millionaire of Pittsburgh—who pays taxes on more dogs than any other man in Westmoreland county, and is the only man ever heard of who has killed a good horse in working out his road tax. Yea, verily, by a man who, like Andrew Carnegie, has no paper cuff, a meanness so small as not to be visible with the aid of the best microscope made by that Glory in Excelsis among the glassworkers of Pittsburgh, John A. Brashear.

Grave at the Summit.

"In conclusion, too, let me say that the point in Mount Odin park which I have selected for my eyrie or sailing over the Sea of Appalachia, or my inhumation, is not a fence corner in a neglected part, but the summit of the mount, about 50 yards from the front door of my library, and under the Yggdrasill, the marvelous symbolic tree of the Scandinavians. And who? Because after a few short months in which the meagre remnants of my flesh and bones may be incinerated cheerfully in quick lime, and every trace of a grave obliterated with Dead Nerves power, the visitor to the park for many years to come may sit on a bench beneath the beautiful tree of the Norsemen's holiest dreams; and as the sun sits in the cloud of smoke that hovers over the city of Pittsburgh, see the sage of Mt. Odin as the last of the Vikings, or the last of the Berserkers, sink in his airy ship and disappear in the darkness of night. And then, after the firing of his fancy, what phantasy may not take shape in his imagination for the delight perhaps of many thousands of his fellow men in many years.

"But is not the pagandom and not to be tolerated in Christendom, whatever of it who rules on all sides, on the contrary, and to make sure that some of my good, wiring friends be involved in a possible crush or a diabolical proceeding, I have had made two bronzine crosses of silver—one of the mirroring swastika, or the Scandinavian Thor Hammer Cross, for the exact equivalence of which, see, when published, my book entitled the Elements, Evolution and Correlation of Religious Rites and Ceremonies,) and the other a Christian, Roman or Greek Cross, one pretty shaped and affixed to it an emblematical, the symbol in Christendom of a pilgrimage to Jerusalem, or other holy places; and these I have directed to be placed, to the one at the feet of my effigy or cadaver, and the other on my breast to indicate whatsoever it may be the variable minds of my fellow men. And should my good friend, Dr. Holland, be a lover of shells as he is of butterflies, I trust that he will see to it that the beautiful specimen of pecten which I make use of he will bequeath to the earth, but removed from any effigy or corpse and deposited with its congeners in the Carnegie museum. I am,

EXCITEMENT AT FUNERAL.

Horse Frightened, Carriage Was Upset and the Occupants Were Thrown Into the Street.

Serious injury and possible death were narrowly averted in a runaway during the funeral of Adam Behms of McKeesport yesterday afternoon. The services were held at the home of J. W. Finton, in West Fifth avenue, and the procession to the Richland cemetery in Duquesne had just started when the horses drawing one of the carriages took fright and ran away.

The carriage containing Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Finton, Mr. and Mrs. John Schantz and the two children of the latter was upset and all were thrown into the street. Finton was seriously cut about the face by pieces of shattered glass, and Mrs. Finton, besides receiving minor cuts, suffered severely from shock. The others sustained slight bruises and cuts.

The carriage was dragged for about 50 yards on its side before the driver, James Forsythe, who stuck to his post, was able to stop the horses. The carriage was damaged and another was substituted. All save Mrs. Finton continued the ride to the cemetery.

STOLE CASE OF WINE.

While Driver Was Mixing Champagne Disappeared from the Wagon.

Walter Wilson, Spratt Mex. Elmer Kelly, Frank McGinnis and K. P. Richards, all of 280 Diamond street, were arrested last night by Policeman George Gamrod and taken to the central station on suspicion of having stolen a case of champagne from the delivery wagon of John Hammel. The wine was being delivered to Wilson's place.

The driver was preparing to unload some wines and liquors at William Hammel's saloon. While inside the establishment a case of wine was taken off the wagon. Mr. Hammel notified Policeman Gamrod and decided the wine was in some place by breathing. The officer started a search and found the basket on the second floor of Wilson's place.

Policemen at Target Practice.

Several good scores were made at the target practice of the patrolmen and officers of the South Side district last evening. Lieut. T. E. Werner led with a score of 24 points out of a possible 30. Lieutenant Smith came next with 23 points. W. C. Lepel also made a score of 23, while Patrolmen Joseph Murray and Edward Jacobs made 21 each. The men of No. 7 have challenged the men of No. 8 to a contest.

MEETING WILL BE HELD HERE

National Commission Decides on This City in Case Pitcher Taylor Is to Be Tried.

PULLIAM TALKS OF THE CASE

From Cincinnati comes word that the meeting of the National commission, at which Pitcher Jack Taylor will be placed on trial for alleged dishonesty will likely be held in this city. This was the result of a conference between Harry Pulliam and Ban Johnson after the meeting at the Laughrey club where it was agreed that the meeting be held in Chicago.

When Johnson called on Pulliam after the return from the Laughrey club the National league leader insisted that it was asking too much to have him journey from New York to Chicago and a half-way point was suggested. This brought Pittsburgh in and the fact that one of the questionable games that Taylor is accused of pitching took place here, had its influence, because it would be easier to get the witnesses here than to Chicago.

President Dreyfuss sent word from Cincinnati yesterday that in company with President Pulliam, who has so far recovered from his illness to be able to travel, would arrive here this morning. Before leaving Cincinnati Pulliam gave out his idea of the Taylor case which is as follows:

"So far as I can see," he said, "there is no Taylor case. That player's name was not mentioned in the charges. The case is simply this: President Comiskey, of the Chicago Americans, has filed with the commission a complaint against President Hart of the Chicago Nationals, on account of a letter written by the latter, which was published in a Chicago paper. This letter charged that Hart had been 'thrown down' by one of his players in the fall series between the two Chicago teams a year ago. It did not specify any particular player, although it was common talk that Taylor was meant.

"Comiskey took the ground that such a charge was an indirect knock at him, since he would naturally be the one most benefited by a White Sox victory. He therefore submitted Hart's published statement to the commission, with a request that Hart be called upon to prove the charge made. Taylor is not in the case at all, so far as it has been uncovered. It is so well known, however, that Taylor is the man suspected by Hart, that his name has been constantly mentioned in connection with it. Actually it is simply Comiskey vs. Hart. I am not even certain that the commission has jurisdiction in the case. Certainly, if a case is going to be founded only on newspaper talk, the commission will be kept pretty busy."

A special from Cincinnati says: "President Herrmann wrote to Mr. Hart yesterday for a full statement of his side of the controversy. When this has been received the chairman will set a time and place for hearing the case, if he decides that it is one properly to come before the commission. It should be understood that Mr. Herrmann's statement of belief in Pitcher Taylor's crookedness is based on nothing in connection with this case, but on an investigation of other incidents in the twirler's career."

WORLD'S SERIES WILL SURELY TAKE PLACE

Schedules Will Be So Arranged—Both Leagues to Open Season on April 14.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, Jan. 13.—President Harry Pulliam gave out some interesting details of the schedule for the coming season today.

"April 14 has been definitely decided upon as the date for opening the season in both the National and American leagues," said Mr. Pulliam, "although this date may be changed in St. Louis to one day later for one of the teams in order that both may have the advantage of a non-conflicting inaugural. It will be the aim of Mr. Johnson of the American league and myself to have the season close on October 5, if possible and certainly not later than October 8, in order to allow of the playing of the world's championship series before the players' contracts expire. Every effort will be made to avoid conflicting dates both in the east and in the west, the one exception to this rule being in the matter of Sunday games in Chicago, where the grounds of the two teams are nine miles apart, and the Sunday crowds of each come from distinctly different portions of the city, thus not causing any hardship on Sunday conflicts. Mr. Johnson and I will meet again before long to further discuss the schedule and see about the assignment of 'plums' in the matter of dates."

Chairman Herrmann, of the National commission has received the following letter from Pitcher Jack Taylor:

St. Louis, Mo., January 11.

Mr. G. Herrmann, Cincinnati, Ohio:

Sir—I notice by the St. Louis papers that you state I am not straight in baseball. If you have evidence that I am dishonest that I cannot prove is untrue, I am willing to get out of the game, but nobody can say that I have not been square as a ball player. Mind (and the word is underscored), I do not deny that I have some times during the season taken too many drinks, but as a rule I have always kept myself in condition.

Mr. Herrmann says Taylor will have a fair hearing and every opportunity to clear himself.

W. U. P. IS VICTORIOUS.

Manchester Puts Up Gallant Resistance, but Loses the Game by One Point.

The W. U. P. team beat Manchester last night at Cyclorama hall, 20 to 19. The first half ended 5 to 4 in favor of W. U. P. All of the college points were scored from foul by Capt. Joe Thompson. Graham, for Manchester, got one nice field goal and scored on two tries from foul. In the second half, matters were lively all the distance. Early in the battle Cashdollar and Koch mixed it up for a moment and when the smoke had cleared away Cashdollar was found seated on the bench, having been conducted there by Referee "Bob" Kelly.

Field goals came fast and thick in this section of the engagement. Thompson started the firing by dropping in a beauty from long range and soon afterward one from foul. Then East scored one from field. Patterson dribbled the ball down the floor and dropped one through. He was followed by Koch, who scored twice in succession. Koch also got another, making his total for the night three from field. Metskus, Burry, Edgar, each got one; Edgar negotiated two and Cashdollar one. This ended the scoring. Line-up:

|---|---|---|
| Thompson | Forward | Patterson |
| East | Forward | Koch |
| Dickie | Center | Metskus |
| Cashdollar | Guard | Graham |
| Edgar | Guard | Burry |

Goals from field—Thompson 2, East, Dickie 2, Edgar 2, Cashdollar, Patterson 2, Koch 3, Metskus 1, Burry 1. Goals from foul—Graham 2, Thompson 6. Referee—"Bob" Kelly. Time of halves—20 minutes.

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—(Special.)—John L. Sullivan is in town. A big crowd of admirers was at the station to meet the old time fighter, and John L. was kept pretty busy for 15 or 20 minutes shaking hands.

"Thanks, but I'm on the water wagon for keeps now," was the champion's reply to an enthusiastic admirer who invited him in to have "something warm." The ex-champion is all ready to spring his lecture on "The Gay Old World as Old John L. Sees It" at the benefit to be tendered him at the Waverly club Monday night.

Sullivan visited many of the resorts where sporting men congregate today and was given the "glad hand" by many of his old time friends. John L. who has always shown a remarkable faculty for remembering names and faces, saluted each by his first name. With an eye to business, he prefaced each chat with a hearty "be sure to come out to the show Monday night. It's a lit and I need you there."

HIGH SCHOOL TO SEND ATHLETES TO BIG MEET

Pittsburgh Will Compete in School Games at Washington, D. C.—The Hockey League Game Today.

Pittsburgh High school will probably send athletes to the big indoor school meet at Washington, D. C., January 28. High school will have several entries if it decides to compete. The best schoolboy athletes in the eastern schools will contest, it is said.

An attempt to break the world's record of 6 2-5 seconds for 60 yards will be made by Charles F. Seitz, American champion for the distance. Seitz is Georgetown university's new star sprinter, who won the 60-yard national championship at the Pastime Athletic club's games in Madison Square garden, New York, two weeks ago. In that race Seitz was pitted against some of the fastest short-distance men in the country, but he won easily, and equaled the record of 6 2-5 seconds, made by Lon Myers 20 years ago.

Pittsburgh High school has a good chance to pull away from Shadyside in the interscholastic Hockey league championship race this afternoon by beating East Liberty academy.

High school and Shadyside are tied for the leadership, with East Liberty in the third position. High school's only defeat was handed out by Shadyside in the opening game of the season, and the only reverse Shadyside experienced was given by East Liberty, whose supporters predict a victory over High school today. Charlie Ahl will referee the game and the goal judges will be Alex. McCracken of Shadyside and "Pewee" Bunton of Wilkinsburg.

Columbia's baseball players will be under the care of Billy Lauder, the ex-third baseman of the New York Nationals. With the large amount of promising material now at the Morningside college, it is expected that the new coach will be able to develop a strong nine, which will make even a better record than last year's team.

Announcement that Ralph Rose has been permanently barred from athletics at Michigan university and is no longer eligible for western competition, created a stir in the college athletic world.

C. P. Gantert, '06, has resigned his position as manager of the Columbia university hockey team, as he is about to leave the university. Capt. Cook, who was recently disqualified because of deficiencies in his studies, has not been allowed to resume play with the seven.

BISHOP TALBOT WINS THE FIGHT

Episcopal Board of Inquiry Decides Its Constitution Was Uncanonical.

MEETING WAS HELD IN SECRET

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

READING, PA., Jan. 13.—There will be no investigation, for the present at least, of the charges preferred by the Rev. Dr. Irvine against Bishop Ethelbert Talbot.

"A lack of canonical authority" is the conclusion of the 11 members who attended today's meeting of the board of inquiry. The full membership consists of 16. Those present were the Rev. Henry L. Jones and the Rev. Rogers Israel; diocese of New York, the Rev. Dr. Harry P. Nichols; diocese of Albany, the Rev. E. A. Enos and the Rev. Joseph Carey; diocese of Philadelphia, the Rev. W. B. Bodine and the Rev. John E. Hardin. Lay members, from the diocese of Central Pennsylvania, W. A. Butler and J. M. Lamberton; diocese of New York, Francis Lynde Stetson; diocese of Philadelphia, George C. Thomas.

By many it is said that other charges will be preferred against Bishop Talbot under canons now in force.

After the session began the gates leading to the chapel of Christ church, where the meeting was held, were locked, and strict instructions were given that no member of the board was to be disturbed or called out by any one. This indicated the desire of Dr. Irvine to have the meeting public would be ignored.

J. Frederick Jenkinson of Philadelphia, one of the signers of the presentment and attorney for the presenters, visited the church where the meeting was held. He said he had not been notified by the committee that his presence was desired as a witness, and he was not called.

The findings of the board were given out in a formal statement after the meeting.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 13.—When Dr. Irvine was informed tonight that the board of inquiry had decided it did not have canonical authority to take up his charges against Bishop Talbot he said the action of the board did not end the fight. His friends, he added, would meet in a few days to decide what course to pursue.

CAMPANARI WAS THE STAR AT ORCHESTRA CONCERT

Famous Baritone Was Warmly Received—Instrumental Numbers Were Effective.

One of the best-attended concerts of the season was given at the Pittsburgh Carnegie Music hall last evening by the Pittsburgh orchestra, with Campanari, the famous baritone, as soloist. Although the presence of the great singer had something to do, doubtless, with the increased attendance, the program prepared by Mr. Paur was of unusual attractiveness and decidedly novel in makeup.

For one thing it embraced Tschaikowsky's famous "Pathetic" symphony No. 6, in D minor, and among the great works of musical genius created in this generation no purely orchestral composition has, possibly, taken such strong hold of the musical public as this. The announcement that the noble work is to be performed is almost sure to bring out a large audience.

Campanari has appeared in Pittsburgh so often, both in concert and grand opera, that he is one of the most familiar and one of the most eagerly welcomed singers who come here. His rich and dramatic voice seems to suffer nothing of change with the passing years, unless it is to grow richer and more mellow, and each appearance strengthens the warm admiration for his great talent and unexcelled art. He sang two arias with orchestral accompaniment last evening, one from Gluck's "Iphigenie en Tauride," the other from Mozart's "Cost fan Tutti." Though both were admirably sung, the latter was better suited to Mr. Campanari, both vocally and temperamentally. It gave an opportunity for him to show his finished technique in smooth shakes and trills, and displayed to the best advantage those warm, pure upper tones which have always been the chief charm of his voice. That his welcome was very enthusiastic might well go without saying. The continued applause brought him to the stage to bow his acknowledgements again and again.

Of the orchestra numbers a novelty was the "Benvenuto Cellini" overture, by Berlioz, played for the first time at these concerts. It is a work full of this daring composer's characteristics and was given an interpretation as bold and as fiery as Berlioz himself could have wished. Another unusual number was Brahms' variations on the choral, "St. Anthony."

The Tschaikowsky symphony "Pathetic" was, however, the great thing of the evening, and one of the most thoughtful and well worked-out pieces of work yet done by the orchestra. It was impressively rendered, with such finish of nuance, such effective instrument-choir work and such a high and noble interpretation that it must outrank even the Beethoven symphony in C major, No. 1, which was played some few weeks ago.

The same program, with Mr. Campanari as soloist, will be given this afternoon at 2:15 o'clock.

AMBRIDGE, Jan. 13.—(Special.)—Edward Schultz, a puncher at the plant of the American Bridge Company, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon by being buried under girders, which fell when about to be hoisted with a crane. Schultz was 26 and lived in Allegheny.

NEW HIGH SCHOOL SITE IS OFFERED

Oakland Board of Trade Has One for $120,000 Cash and Piece of Ground.

GOING AFTER ORE NUISANCE

The Oakland board of trade has a plan for securing a high school site at a cash outlay of $110,000. It is a 3½-acre piece of the Schenley estate, and it can be bought for $225,000. The owners will take the Friendship park site in part payment at $115,000.

At the meeting of the board last night the question of a high school site was discussed and the report of the special committee appointed on this matter was read. The committee reported that Judge Magee would be willing to sell his property, 3½ acres, for $300,000. The Schenley site could be obtained on the terms stated above. The board adopted a resolution urging the location of the school in the Oakland district, as that is claimed to be the most central part of the city.

The committee which had charge of the ore dust nuisance was also heard and the fact was noted that the tax valuations in Oakland have been lowered because of this trouble. The committee reported that the matter was again being brought to the attention of the court, as no attention had been paid to the injunction secured and no effort had been made to remedy the trouble.

Communications were read from Congressmen Shiras, Porter and Dalzell and from Senator Knox, favoring the "On to Cairo" movement and assuring the board that it would receive their earnest support. The board some time ago adopted a resolution favoring the project and wrote the congressmen asking their support of the plan for deepening the Ohio and improving it with locks and dams. The following standing committees for 1905 were named:

Membership, C. B. Aylesworth, Georgs Kleinschmidt, E. S. Edwards, W. P. Getty, E. D. Witt.

Legislative, Thomas S. Brown, J. J. Booth, W. S. Negley, J. G. Pew, Charles P. Robinson.

Business, C. B. Aylesworth, William McAllister, Theodore Backoefer, W. J. Keebler, P. J. Daugherty.

House, Robert Thomson, W. L. Elford, J. H. McQuaide, E. D. Witt, William Zether.

Polytechnic school, Dr. R. H. Holbrook, W. H. Stevenson, J. G. Pew.

The treasurer's report showed a satisfactory condition of the board's financial affairs. After paying all bills there is still over $1,500 in the treasury. The organization is on a sound footing and expects this coming year to do more good work for Oakland than in the past.

REMODELING WOULD RUIN ARCHITECTURE

Protest Is Made Against Additional Stories to the Courthouse.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—At the closing session of the annual convention of the American Institute of Architects here today, a resolution was adopted protesting against the proposed additions to the Allegheny county court house. This association, composed of the leading architects of the country, feel that if that additional stories are built on to the magnificent building it will mar the beauty of one of the finest specimens of architecture in the country. The resolution was presented by the Pittsburgh delegation, F. Russell, president; Edward Stotz, vice president, and George S. Orth, secretary, of the Pittsburgh chapter. It reads as follows:

Whereas, The commissioners of Allegheny county, Pennsylvania, have had plans prepared and are desirous of adding three stories to the height of the court house at Pittsburgh, which was designed by the late H. H. Richardson, and is considered a work of unusual dignity and merit, and, in an architectural sense, a national possession, and

Whereas, The contemplated changes would undoubtedly destroy the proportions and unity of the building,

Resolved, That the American Institute of Architects, in convention assembled, do concur with and heartily indorse the actions and attitude of the Pittsburgh chapter, American Institute of Architects, in protesting against the adoption of plans whereby an architectural monument of such note will be lost to our country.

The secretary was instructed to forward a copy to the commissioners of Allegheny county and the board of directors of the institute was requested to take further action towards influencing the commissioners against the proposed changes. The board will hold its next meeting in about 10 days, when the matter will be considered.

If you will hunt up a magazine of, say, ten or fifteen years ago you will be surprised to note the number of familiar names among the advertisers in it.

Many have disappeared from view, but the good, strong, representative concerns that were doing intelligent, persistent advertising then are doing it now on a better and far larger scale. They have succeeded and grown wealthy by advertising—without it they would be comparatively unknown.

A little investigation will prove to any manufacturer that with a good article and careful business management advertising will make a splendid and enduring success.

One of the best advertising mediums of today is The Saturday Evening Post, a weekly illustrated magazine with its 3,500,000 readers in every part of the country. Its subscribers are our best class of American people—they buy the magazine and read it. The fact that it appears weekly makes it much more powerful that it otherwise would be.

BACKACHE

Is only one of many distressing symptoms which point to the presence of womanly diseases. If women thoroughly understood the relation of the local womanly health to the general health, they would understand that backache, headache, nervousness, sidesche, dizziness, faintness and similar feminine ailments, cannot be cured until the womanly health is established.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures diseases peculiar to women. It establishes regularity, dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. In curing these local diseases, it cures the ailments which they cause; backache, headache, sidesche, dizziness, faintness, nervousness, and other ills peculiarly feminine.

"I wrote you for advice February 4th, 1902," writes Mrs. Linna Halstead, of Claremore, Cherokee Nat., Ind. Ter. "I was sicking with pain from the back of my head down to my heels. Had been thage for weeks at a time, and was unable to sit up for two minutes at a time. You answered my letter, advised me to use your valuable medicines, viz., Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, "Golden Medical Discovery," and "Pleasant Pellets," also gave advice about selections, baths and diet. To my surprise, in four months from the time I began your treatment I was a well woman, and have not had the backache since, and now I put in eleven hours a day at hard work."

Weak and sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Pennsylvania's Telegraph System to Cost $125,000.

The Pennsylvania railroad will spend about $125,000 in arranging the telegraph system on its lines. This is necessitated by its disconnection with the Western Union and the making of a new contract with the Postal Telegraph Company. Nearly all the wires and poles of the new lines in this state have been put up and what is yet to be done is mostly in New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company's part of the contract is to put up the poles and keep them in order. The Postal has to string the wires, except those that are to be used exclusively by the railroad company. In all there is to be put up 197 miles of poles, and the Postal company will string about 2,000 miles of wire. On the Maryland division both companies will string wires, each putting up about 1,500 miles. There will be wires and poles put up at other places, but it is said the Western Union Telegraph Company has made more headway with ticking down its wires and poles.

At the meeting of the Central Passenger association it was agreed that Frank Donald, commissioner of the association, should act as arbitrator in the dispute over differentials between Pittsburgh and Chicago and Cleveland and Chicago between the Wabash, Clover Leaf and the C., H. & D.

P. R. R. to Grow Cross-Ties.

According to a statement made by Chief Engineer William H. Granam of the Pennsylvania railroad, the company will plant trees which in due time will furnish enough cross ties for the entire system. The trees are to be planted at the stations along the line and adjacent to the tracks. For some years past the railroads have felt a shortage of cross ties, and several railroads have under advisement the securing of lands upon which to grow the proper trees for that purpose. Several railroads are growing trees in different sections of the country, but the plan to grow them all along the line and at stations is a new one. The Pennsylvania intends planting 500,000 trees the coming spring, and at intervals will plant 700,000 more. This is thought will be sufficient to keep the system supplied in crosstie timber. As one is felled another will be planted in its place.

E. B. Pryor May Found Library at Pryor.

E. B. Pryor, assistant to the president of the Wabash railroad, has spent the greater part of the past week in Pittsburgh in connection with his official duties. Mr. Pryor took part in the inspection of the line on Thursday and was deeply interested in the Hardy news. town of Pryor, named in his honor. To the original residence there about 30 are now being added, and two coal mines are being opened at the place. Mr. Pryor was observed to leave the party and, mounting an eminence, he surveyed the prospects thoroughly. It is claimed he is considering the founding of a public library in the town and was selecting the best site.

Strike Votes Being Counted.

The vote of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen employed on the Pennsylvania system on the proposition whether or not to strike to enforce the adjustment of grievances will not be known for a few days. The officials of the organization are counting the votes and when the task is completed the locals will be notified of the result. Some of the members are of the opinion that the company will grant the concessions asked for without the union resorting to drastic measures.

Railroad Notes.

President Joseph Ramsey of the Wabash left last evening for his headquarters in St. Louis.

On account of the crowded condition of the shops of the Pennsylvania railroad a number of the engines are now being repaired at the McKees Rocks plant of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie.

George T. Gunnip, general agent of the Santa Fe at Cincinnati, was in Pittsburgh yesterday.

The Pittsburgh, Carnegie & Western railroad filed an answer to the suit brought by the supervisors of South Fayette township to compel it to place in good condition a county road. The railroad company stated that it was heretofore unable to put the road in its original condition, but would do so within 90 days and asked that they be allowed that much time.

QUARTER MILLION FOR DISTRIBUTION

Account of E. Z. Wainwright's Estate Filed in Court for Audit.

EXECUTOR TO PAY INTEREST

Nearly a quarter of a million dollars, derived from the estate of the late E. Z. Wainwright, will soon be ready for distribution, the account filed for audit showing a total of $240,395 04. The original inventory of the estate, with which the accountant is charged, is $282,381 56. Dividends on stocks and interest from bonds are given as follows: Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, $213; Columbia Malting Company, $468; Arsenal bank of Pittsburgh, $240; Traders and Mechanics bank, $25; American Can Company, $833 34; Allegheny Bridge Company, Sixth street, $10 50; interest on Pittsburgh Brewing Company bonds, $1,014 67; on Consolidated Gas Company bonds, $250; sale of 28 Pittsburgh Brewing Company bonds, $14,280.

The account of the estate of Christian I. McKee shows a personal estate of $11,314 81, and real estate of $535 30. After the deduction of credits against the estate $9,685 12 is left for distribution.

The second partial accounting of the estate of T. R. Moreland shows $3,000 each distributed to five heirs and $20,707 40 available for distribution.

Judge Miller in orphans court filed an opinion in the estate of John T. Evans, ordering the executor, R. M. Holland, to charge his account with interest on funds during the year of administration. The account of R. M. Holland, the executor, was filed by his widow, Lizzie M. Holland, he having died while in charge of the estate. Judge Miller says that the inventory shows $4,070 70, principally in cash, and deposited in a bank drawing 4 per cent interest, which account the executor withdrew and placed in a bank of which he was the president, and upon which no interest was paid. The court said while it was not customary to charge interest on funds during the year of administration, yet in this case, owing to the solvency of the estate, no large funds were needed for the payment of claims, and so ordered the minimum interest, 2 per cent, regularly allowed, to be charged against Holland.

Buffington Refuses New Trials.

A new trial was refused by Judge Buffington in the United States circuit court in the case of Joseph Lamphere against the Pittsburgh, Shawmut & Northern railroad. Lamphere was run over and lost both legs below the knee. The jury in the case brought in a verdict for $13,500, and the court finds that this was not excessive. A new trial was also refused in the case of Stevenson & Foster against the Home Insurance Company, New York, in which the jury found for the defendant. This was one of the insurance cases growing out of the destruction of the Stevenson & Foster building in Wood street.

The bill filed by Edward O. Wehling to compel Walter Lyon to transfer shares of the American Casting Company to Wehling was dismissed. Lyon claimed to hold the stock in trust for H. W. Hartman and J. W. Miller. Judge Buffington says Hartman has parted with his stock and any claim that Wehling has is through Miller, subject to the equitable claim of Lyon for services rendered to Miller, and that he cannot compel a transfer until he has settled with Lyon.

The demurrer was sustained in the case of B. G. Parks and T. W. Parks against the New York Central & Hudson River railroad. This was an action in trespass to recover money and the defendant company filed a demurrer, taking the ground that it should have been an action in assumpsit. The point is upheld by the court.

The motion to remand the suit of the Olanto Coal Company against the Beech Creek railroad to the common pleas court of Clearfield county was refused.

A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against M. Cohen & Son.

John B. Dufford of New Castle filed a petition in bankruptcy. He gives his liabilities as $2,534 and his assets as $155.

To Be Tried for Murder.

Thomas O. Russell will be placed on trial next Wednesday on a charge of murder. Russell is alleged to have murdered John Wasmuth, aged 22 and single, at Walkers Mills, on September 22 last. Wasmuth was a farmhand and Russell is said to have beaten him over the head with a piece of gas pipe, fracturing his skull. Wasmuth lived only half an hour after being beaten.

Blair Murry of Hite station was sent to the workhouse for three months for robbery.

Suit was entered in common pleas court by the Allegheny County Light Company against Levy, Lachenbruch & Co., alleging that the defendant company, without permission, connected its clothing store in Fifth avenue with the wires of the light company and used for lighting electricity to the amount of $100.

J. Henry Jahn was taken to common pleas court No. 2 from the county jail, as his presence was necessary in the case on trial brought by J. J. Miller and his wife Eleanor C. Miller, to annul some papers which figure in a transfer of property to Jahn and which are alleged to be forged. Mrs. Jahn and their two boys were in the courtroom when he was brought in, and the meeting between them was an affectionate one. Jahn is charged by the Millers with forging a deed to their property in Fleck street, Allegheny, and they ask the court to clear the title. The court took the papers and testimony in the case.

John C. Palmer of Pittsburgh, in his will, made provision for the support of his mother and a nephew, John William Hazlett, during their lives and their funeral expenses. For his mother Palmer directs that $60 a month be allowed during her life and the nephew is to be cared for at the Allegheny City home.

Provision for His Sons.

To his son, Frederick E. Palmer, $500 is left for his support and education. He provides that if his son, John E. Palmer, desires to engage in business during the next five years, advances are to be made him against his share in the estate. The net income of the estate is to be paid to his widow for the next five years, and at the end of that period she is to receive one-third of the estate and the balance is to be divided equally among his children. The estate is valued at $160,000.

John Schiller of Pittsburgh leaves his son John $5 and directs that the sale of realty at 1512 Fifth avenue be made to his son-in-law for $25,000 if he cares to purchase at that figure. The proceeds from the sale of this property is to be divided among his wife and five daughters. The value of the estate is $31,000.

Executions issued: Federal Supply Company vs. W. F. Russell, $118 02; Joseph M. Conard vs. Susan A. Mowry and William R. Mowry, $125; Frank Tomesanyi vs. John Lukaesko, $439 56; Adam Loch vs. John M. Powell, administrator, $606 88; Frank H. Mattock vs. John Morris, $691 74; Commonwealth, for use of Fannie Black, vs. Harry Black and S. S. Amberson, $140.

LOOMIS SENDS RESIGNATION.

Vice President of National City Bank Withdraws Because of Connection With Munroe Failure.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Archibald G. Loomis, whose name has frequently been mentioned in connection with the boomling of the Montreal and Boston Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company stock by the failed firm of Munroe & Munroe, has tendered his resignation as vice president and director of the National City bank of this city. It is understood the resignation will be accepted.

In his letter of resignation Mr. Loomis says: "I am led to do this because my continuance with the bank exposes it to criticism and attacks which should be personal to myself, as no officer or individual connected with the bank, except myself, had anything whatever to do with the credit which was extended to Munroe & Munroe."

Will Speak on Secondary Schools.

The January meeting of the pedagogical section of the Academy of Science and Art will be held in the Third Presbyterian church, South Negley and Fifth avenues, on Tuesday evening. Dr. Samuel A. Martin of the Pennsylvania College for Women, will speak on "The Relation of Secondary Schools to Colleges."

County Treasurer's Office Robbed.

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 13.—Safe robbers wrecked the safe in the office of the county treasurer at Wauseon early this morning and secured $5,000. The treasurer had deposited $200,000 tax money in the banks of the town, which accounted for the small sum secured. The looters, four in number, stole a horse and sleigh and escaped.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS PLEAD FOR ECONOMY

Protest Against the Purchase of the Bridge at Monongahela City.

Allegheny county commissioners think the time has arrived for economy. In the quarter sessions court yesterday they filed exceptions to the return of the board of viewers on the condemnation of the Monongahela City bridge. The bridge extends from Main street, Forward township, Allegheny county, to Bridge street, Monongahela City, Washington county.

The board recommended that the bridge be purchased by the two counties and be made a county structure. The board says the bridge should be bought for $125,000, Allegheny county to pay $83,000 of this amount.

The commissioners claim the amount asked is too much, considering the large expense the county is put to at the present time. It is said the purchase would be burdensome to the county as at the present time the jail addition is being built at the expense of almost $750,000. It is also said that plans are on foot for the erection of a new court house or for additions to the present one, and for the building of a memorial hall, all of which will cost the county vast sums of money. Considering the expenditures that the county is at now and those that may come later, the purchase of the bridge is not recommended.

County Treasurer D. F. Collingwood has made a report showing the amount of taxes collected from all sources in 1904 was $1,568,304 37, as against $1,328,367 03 for 1903, showing an increase for 1904 of $230,537 34.

TO TALK OF GREATER CITY.

Senators, Legislators and Committee of Merchants and Manufacturers and Chamber of Commerce to Meet.

The joint Greater Pittsburgh committee of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association and the chamber of commerce will meet at 2 p. m. today in the rooms of the chamber of commerce to consult with the Allegheny county delegation of senators and representatives regarding the bill which Chairman George H. Anderson of the chamber of commerce has had prepared, to effect the consolidation of contiguous territory with Pittsburgh.

The bill provides that if the majority of the people voting on consolidation cast their ballots for it, then the separate municipalities and borough governments shall cease to exist on January 1, 1907, provided the election shall have been held prior to that date. It provides that on petition of the councils of Pittsburgh the court shall fix the date for the election, but it may be so amended as to specify when the election shall be held.

The vote of the majority of the people in the district to be consolidated will be the deciding factor, even though the separate boroughs or municipalities may vote against uniting with Pittsburgh. Some Alleghenians object to this provision on the ground that, although Allegheny may vote against consolidation the vote of Pittsburgh could swamp the Allegheny majority and thus force unwilling Allegheny into a union.

The Braddock board of commerce has appointed a committee to go to Harrisburg and fight the Greater Pittsburgh legislation if there is anything in the bill which would deprive boroughs of the right to decide individually on the matter of annexation to Pittsburgh. The committee consists of George Hogg, George Moore, J. D. Petty and J. C. Longhead.

MAYHUGH WAS ANGRY.

Made Scene at McKeesport Hearing and Threatened to Take Mayor Falkenstein to Court.

"If you think you can bluff this court, proceed. The defendant is fined $50 and costs, and the fine will have to be paid before the prisoner leaves this room," declared Mayor Falkenstein yesterday at the hearing in the suit of Meat and Milk Inspector Murphy against William Mayhugh, a dairyman of Elizabeth.

"The court is arbitrary and unfair, and I will have you in the county courts in 24 hours," hotly asserted Joseph Mayhugh, attorney for his brother. "I understand it is hard to get money back after it reaches this place, but I will get back the fine with costs. This place may be as good as a bank, but I don't know how strong or how honest it is. I demand a transcript of this case at once and will enter a suit for damages today. My brother is being persecuted and someone will have to pay for it."

"You have continually threatened this court, but I do not intend to be bluffed, so pay your fine and clear out," replied the mayor. "I intend to see that McKeesport gets good milk if I have to break open every can that is shipped into the city."

During the trial of the case Attorney Mayhugh turned to the spectators in the court room and asked them to bear witness that he was being unfairly dealt with.

JUNIATA WATER GOBBLED.

Syndicate of Eighteen Companies Makes Application for Charters at Harrisburg.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 13.—(Special.)—Charters to control the water rights in all the important streams along the entire length of the Juniata river from Duncannon to Altoona were applied for by a Philadelphia syndicate today at the state department. There are 18 companies in all, each with a capital of $5,000, and the same incorporators—Howard Watkins and William Roth of Philadelphia and George M. Bunting of Chester.

This syndicate also controls the Mountain Water Supply Company of Greensburg, which a few days ago increased its capital stock from $1,000,000 to $5,000,000. Three other water companies in the same territory have also filed charter applications and are capitalized at $5,000 each.

HAMILTON, O., Jan. 13.—Charles Smith, a wealthy farmer of Union township, has found a jug containing $2,000 in gold, hidden by Byrum Seward in his house before his death, 30 years ago. Smith yesterday bought the Seward farm. Seward was stricken with paralysis and died without recovering sufficiently to tell where his gold was hidden.

STOCKS TURNED STRONG AND CLOSED QUITE ACTIVE

Union Pacific, Northern Securities and Interborough Made New High Records in Wall Street. Crucible Preferred Up $5.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

After three hours or more of dull but steady market in New York yesterday, during which the transactions foot up about 400,000 shares and prices fluctuated within narrow limits, a complete change occurred in the temper of the street. Trading became active and the feeling almost buoyant. Prices advanced rapidly and closed at or near the best of the day, with total sales approximating 750,000 shares.

There was no adequate explanation for the change furnished by the news of the day, and it was based mainly upon the action of two stocks in the curb market. Northern Securities advanced to 145⅞, the highest ever quoted, and Interborough Rapid Transit advanced to 153, which is also the highest ever quoted. On the theory that the buying of Northern Securities foreshadowed some important movement in connection with the group of stocks with which it is affiliated, Union Pacific became strong and finally reached 117¼, closing at the top. This is the highest quoted since 1901, when there was a wonderful outburst of speculation stimulated by the buying of the stocks which subsequently were merged into the Northern Securities Company. The gossip relating to Northern Securities was to the effect that the supreme court would not entertain an appeal from the decision handed down in Philadelphia last week, and that the management would proceed to a distribution of the assets of the company in accord with the Hill-Morgan plan. A report from Chicago hinted at the possibility of an increased cash dividend being paid with the distribution of Northern Pacific and Great Northern stock. The strength of this group was imparted to the entire railroad list and practically everything advanced in the final hour, closing at net gains of ½ to 1 per cent. Union Pacific closed 2¾ per cent higher, and St. Paul 1⅞ per cent. Reading regained 1 per cent of its dividend.

The rise in Interborough had a good effect upon the rest of the traction stocks. Metropolitan closed 1¼ per cent higher and Brooklyn Rapid Transit ⅝ higher. Manhattan, after advancing to a new high point at 172, reacted and closed ⅝ lower for the day.

The industrial group was active and firm in the late dealings. Amalgamated Copper advanced to and closed at 75, a gain of 1⅜ per cent. Sugar closed 1 per cent higher. United States Steel bonds closed ⅝ higher, the common stock ⅛ and the preferred 1 per cent.

Call loans ruled 2 per cent most of the day and closed easy. Estimates of the movements of currency placed the gain to the banks at more than $12,000,000. A week ago a large gain was figured out, but the official figures did not tally with these estimates and the expansion in loans was an additional factor against a favorable statement. However, the actual ease in the money market is a better indication of current monetary conditions than the figures contained in the weekly bank statement.

A boom in Crucible Steel stocks was the feature of the local market yesterday and they furnished one-half of the total dealings. The common touched 12 for the first time in more than a year and closed at 11¾, sales exceeding 2,500 shares. The preferred stock rose $5 a share from 61½ to 66½, reacted sharply to 64½, and closed at 64¾ bid, 65 asked, a net gain of 3½ per cent. The basis for the movement was a report that the figures for December had been compiled and that they showed a large increase in earnings over the previous monthly average of the current fiscal year. Pittsburgh Brewing common rallied to 28¼, the highest for more than a year, and closed unchanged at 28. National Fire Proofing preferred rallied to 25¾, on declaration of the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent, and the common stock closed a fraction higher at 11⅝. Manufacturers Light and Heat was heavy, selling off to 37½, but recovered to 37¾ bid at the close. The Westinghouse stocks were dull but firm. The coal stocks were moderately active within a narrow range of fluctuations. The only change in the bank list was an advance of 6 points in Colonial Trust, which sold at 380. Union Trust sold to the extent of 48 shares at $3,000 a share.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The $5 advance in Crucible Steel preferred yesterday to 66½ occurred very rapidly, and as the movement was reported over the ticker it brought in selling orders to take profits, causing a quick reaction to 64½. There was a recovery to 65 and the market closed at 64¾ bid. The advance in the common stock was not so rapid, but at one time there was considerable excitement. The sticking point appeared to be 12. At one time 11¾ was bid for lots aggregating 2,500 shares, and an equal amount was offered at 12, the sellers apparently being frantic to execute orders. When the buyers stepped aside there were free offerings at 11¾, but when a few purchases had been made at that figure the asking price was again raised to 12. In this respect the market resembled that of a few weeks ago, when the prices of the common ranged between 9⅜ bid, 10 asked. It seemed that an immense amount of stock would have to be absorbed at 10, but the actual amount was small. There is probably a moderate short interest in both issues, and this may have contributed to the sudden rise in the preferred. A large buyer of the latter around the top price of the day was a house that some time ago was a heavy seller 10 points below the current market. There was no official information regarding the affairs of the company, but it was reported on authority better than the ordinary that the earnings of the subsidiaries for the month of December were 50 per cent better than the average monthly earnings for the first quarter of the fiscal year, and that the net earnings for the four months were larger than for the entire fiscal year ended August 31, 1904. Another bullish argument was the enhancement in the market value of material on hand, which it is said will go a long ways toward wiping out the impairment of capital shown in the last annual report.

The call of the comptroller of the currency for a statement of the national banks came about two weeks before it was expected, but it probably found the Pittsburgh institutions with the largest deposits ever reported. One of the interesting features disclosed by the call is that the recently authorized increase in the capital of the Mellon National has been made and the bank now reports a paid-up capital of $4,000,000, compared with $2,000,000 reported in the November statement. The Mellon National reports individual deposits of $11,634,000, an increase of $315,000 since last November, and total resources of $20,031,319, an increase of $2,703,000.

The Farmers Deposit National shows the remarkable increase of $1,342,660 in individual deposits from November 10 to January 11, the total being $14,822,130. The total resources are $20,456,295, or $405,000 larger than the Mellon National.

The Chicago board of trade closed yesterday at 12 o'clock noon, Chicago time, owing to the death of ex-President C. D. Hamill.

The German Trust Company has declared its record dividend of 2 per cent, payable February 4.

The Potter Title and Trust Company has declared a quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent, payable January 16.

The statement of the First National bank of Allegheny shows an increase of $176,000 in deposits between statements of November 10 and January 11, making total deposits now $1,055,451 46.

The statement of the Diamond National bank as of January 11 showed total deposits of $3,000,623 23, the largest on record, and an increase of $225,631 29 since November, 1904. The increase from January 22, 1904, was $1,048,947 94.

Columbus Railway Company directors have declared a dividend of 1¼ per cent on the preferred stock, payable February 1.

The report of Treasurer John B. Barbour, Jr., of the Pittsburgh stock exchange, showed that receipts for the year ending December 31, 1904, were $22,068 31 and the disbursements $17,100 31, including the payment of $2,500 on a demand loan. The property account is $318,122 82.

The many friends of John W. Mercer, with R. G. Dun & Co., of this city, who was operated on at Allegheny General hospital, will be pleased to learn that Mr. Mercer is improving and is out of danger.

Northern Securities and Interborough Rapid Transit both shot up violently to new high records, with corresponding effect on their allied stocks on the curb exchanges. In the volume of their capitalization and in their representative character these stocks, of course, rank with the important market leaders on the stock exchange itself, although they have been listed for dealings on the exchange. With the restricted facilities of the outside market and with the necessary laxity of the regulations and conditions governing the trading there, the prices made on purchases and sales of stocks in the market can scarcely be said to have the authority which attaches to business conducted under the strict regulations existing on the stock exchange. But the response in the fractions and in the transcontinental group was sufficient evidence that the dealings in the curb market were an influence upon those stocks.

Walker & Wainwright bought 38 shares Union Trust at $3,000 a share. Sellers were Whitney, Stephenson & Co., Carothers & Co., McKee, Doty & Sutton, Holmes & Sons, Bayley and Darr, Luke & Moore.

Published reports of a plan to combine all the New York traction companies was responsible for the movement in Interborough, while the buoyant rise in Northern Securities was reflective of the relative increase in value resulting from the issue of its constituent companies and for the enhancement in value of Union Pacific's holding of Northern Securities.

It was rumored that the Reading net earnings for December would make a very strong showing.

Sterling exchange was slightly easier, but rallied before the close and London discounts were marked up a fraction, thus helping to explain the scanty supply of foreign exchange. The decrease in value of cotton, compared with the preceding December was $23,808,907, but the comparison is with the record monthly exports of cotton. There has been a drop, however, of nearly $11,000,000 in the cotton exports compared with November, showing the effect of the decline in the price of that commodity. The value of breadstuffs, cattle and provisions exported during December was $6,951,800 less than in the preceding December and there is the likely total since March, undoubtedly on account of the expansion in the outward movement of corn.

The premium of an expansion of upwards of $10,000,000 in the cash holdings of the New York banks for the week increased the strength of the market in the late dealings. The strength continued to center largely in Union Pacific, but its buoyant upshoot made the closing firm throughout and at about the best level of the day.

ALL MARKET'S STIMULUS CAME FROM THE CURB

Healthy Advance in Northern Securities Imparted Strength to Entire Stock Market.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—The Herald (this (Saturday) morning says:

Oddly enough, it was the curb market to which wall street yesterday looked for an improvement on the stock exchange. This department, usually so greatly despised by stock exchange cronies for the Montreal and Boston stock washing operations, which it was long had filled the market, furnished the stimulus for the day's improvement.

An advance of more than six or seven points in Northern Securities, accompanied by a revival of many valuable rumors, imparted strength to the entire list. Business showed a marked increase in volume. Its distribution was not nearly so well balanced, and the dealings were chiefly of professional character. Despite the absence of public interest, the speculative element was much more hopefully inclined. In the recovering movement of the day some of the recent slips of the week ended in making existing stocks were for the time being overlooked.

The potency of rumor and currency in stimulating a market in contradistinction to actual developments was never better illustrated than during yesterday's session. The session of Thursday was almost as dull and heavy as any of several days. There was quite an accumulation of adverse news, and it seemed particularly impossible to stir the speculation out of its run of dullness.

Not an item of news developed in connection with Northern Securities during the day, and the persons chiefly active in trading for the stock admitted they possessed no information. Of course, a curb stock is more easily manipulated than one which has a free market on the exchange, and in the case of Northern Securities particularly, where so much stock is tied up for two contending parties, active trading naturally resulted in a sharp advance. But as to move itself there was most during the course of the movement, and nothing indicative of the many reports current in the crowd at the close of the day. Yet presumably the entire market was animated by the mystery.

Pittsburgher President of Company.

DENVER, Jan. 13.—(Special.)—The Pittsburgh Gold Zinc Mining Company, which has recently purchased considerable property in Eagle county, has filed articles of incorporation. The principal office will be in Denver. The company will have a capital stock of $500,000 and expects soon to be a large shipper of ores. The president of the company is Capt. Hicks of Pittsburgh, associated with him are James W. Newell, vice president and general manager, and S. N. Hicks, secretary and treasurer, both of Denver.

Bolt Plant to be Sold.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 13.—(Special.)—The first move towards the sale of the property of the Youngstown Bolt Company to Youngstown capitalists was the application in common pleas court for a receiver. W. C. Carmen was appointed. The capital stock is $600,000. The plant has never been operated successfully.

Continuous Mill Resumes Operations.

The continuous mill of the National Tube company at McKeesport, which was demolished last week by the burning of a flywheel, killing one man and injuring others, resumed operations in full yesterday. Nearly 200 men were put back to work. Rush orders necessitated the utmost speed.

Will Support the President.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 13.—The National League of Commission Merchants, in session here, today sent a telegram to President Roosevelt assuring the league's support in his efforts to obtain railway legislation.

NEW CHURCH FOR THE NORTH SIDE

St. Paul's Evangelical Lutherans Will Build $40,000 Edifice on Park.

EAST END RESIDENCE SOLD

As the result of a deal closed Thursday Allegheny will get another fine church building and one more of the old residences along East park will be razed. The purchase was made by the congregation of the St. Paul Evangelical Lutheran church, which secured the property of Francis L. Stephenson and George I. Whitney at the southeast corner of Montgomery avenue and Sandusky street. The plot is irregular, having a frontage of 115 feet in Montgomery avenue and 36 feet in Sandusky street, with the other dimensions 80 and 38 feet. It is now improved with a three-story brick house and was formerly considered one of the finest residence sites in that part of Allegheny. The price paid was $21,000. St. Paul's congregation, which has been located at James and Second streets 12 years, sold its property there some six months ago to a Slav congregation. In April the new site will be cleared preparatory to building a $40,000 brick and stone church, for which plans will be prepared shortly. The Rev. W. E. Behrmann is pastor of the congregation. This will be the second new church for Sandusky street lately, the Central Presbyterian congregation having completed a fine edifice near Erie street last year.

New House Sold for $23,000.

Through the Real Estate Trust Company, Daniel W. Pershing has sold to Miss Rose Frauenheim one of his new residences at 741 North Negley avenue, between Baywood street and Stanton avenue, Nineteenth ward, for $23,000 cash. The house is of the colonial style and contains 12 rooms and three tile bathrooms. It is finished throughout in hardwood and stands on a lot 55x150 feet. The purchaser will occupy the property as a home.

The old firm of Renvers & Co., furniture dealers of Allegheny, have leased for five years the three-story brick building in the rear of Austin block, at 811 Federal street, Allegheny, and, it is said, will establish themselves in the furniture business there April 1. The building is now occupied by the grocery firm of Samuel P. Armstrong & Co. The Renvers firm was formerly located at 814 Federal street, but sold its business there something over a year ago to H. Flechsig & Co. The price reported paid for the Austin block is $1,800 a year.

The Postal Telegraph Cable Company after several months of looking about for a suitable place to be rented or bought, is reported to have closed a deal for another five-year lease on its present quarters in the Carnegie building. The matter of changing locations has been under advisement by District Superintendent Edwin E. Kimmey, of this city, and Vice President Baker of New York. Many sites were canvassed, but the charges were too high to meet the wishes of the officials. The new lease is said to be at the rate of a little over $2 00 a square foot.

Looking for West Penn Deals.

Property owners along Church avenue, Allegheny, are again somewhat excited over recent attempts to get options on their buildings. As far as known no properties have been sold, but frequent attempts to get control of the lots along the upper side of the avenue from Cedar avenue east to Chestnut street, bears out the statement made often that the West Penn Railroad Company is after the property. Most of the houses on this tier of lots stand well back from the street, and it is said to be the intention of the railroad company to use only the vacant part in front. Church avenue, it is said, would be moved to the north about 40 feet and the ground now occupied by that street taken for railroad uses.

A distinct novelty in rent lists has just been issued by S. H. Lloyd, the East End broker. It is a neat booklet handsomely bound and containing in order of price a full list of the apartments, houses, lodge rooms, offices, stores, railroad sidings, vacant ground and warehouses which he has to rent. The various departments are kept entirely distinct, making the book a model of convenience.

SUGAR RISES TEN MORE POINTS IN HOME MARKET

Advance Brings It to Six and a Quarter and It Will Go Higher.

Market conditions were remarkably quiet in Pittsburgh yesterday. The only incident which gave rise to any discussion was the advance by the sugar refiners of another 10 points in the price of sugar. This gave authority for a similar rise in the local market, and wholesalers and jobbers are confident that the last of this month will see sugar at not less than 6.50 cents and possibly more.

The shortage of raw sugar is much more serious than was at first anticipated. The complete failure of the beet sugar production started the advance. The supply of raw sugar was nothing excessive, and the beet sugar being out of the market entirely, left the refiners no other stock but that from the cane fields to draw upon. It is claimed the big refiners have made themselves safe and are in position to continue, regardless of what the price may advance to. The higher the price the more profit for them. But the smaller refiners are feeling it severely and some of them will probably be compelled to close until the next season's crop eases up the conditions in the raw market.

Butter, eggs and cheese were in the same condition yesterday they have been all week. Eggs are very scarce, and Southern shippers are said to be preparing to take advantage of the warmer weather and to be shipping carloads of fresh eggs into the northern markets. Snow and cold weather have kept the western producers from getting into the market, and the cold weather has rendered the shipment of southern eggs unsafe. It is believed there will be plenty of them in in a few days, however, and a decided drop is looked for next week. The extremely high price of butter is still keeping that market slow and no improvement is looked for until the creameries decide to pull the price down to a point where the great bulk of the butter users can afford to buy. At present prices it is a luxury only the rich can enjoy.

Receipts of fruit and produce yesterday were almost nothing. Only two carloads were received, one of apples and one of miscellaneous fruits. Today a decided improvement in receipts is looked for.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts of hay and grain yesterday were as follows: Pennsylvania lines, 9 cars oats, 8 cars corn, 15 cars hay; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 3 cars oats, 2 cars corn, 2 cars hay; Baltimore & Ohio, 4 cars corn, 1 car feed, 3 cars hay.

Light receipts in the hay and grain market have a tendency to keep the prices up. The hay situation is about the same as it has been for some weeks. The stocks purchased before Christmas are now running out and dealers are again in the market. Best timothy and No. 1 clover hays find a ready sale. Mixed is secondary and lower qualities have to hunt buyers. Stock owners are choicy at this time and demand nothing but the best. This is particularly true of the dairymen who seek to increase milk flow by better feeding at this time. The result is the best grades are selling at a good premium, while poorer qualities have to hold back. Car corn is still a big factor in the market and is bought as rapidly as it is received. Oats are as firm as ever, although the Chicago market was reported a little weaker all around yesterday.

WHEAT RULED WEAK ON CROP SHOWING

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—Favorable crop advices from Argentina formed the chief cause of a weak wheat market here today. Final quotations on May wheat show a loss of ¾c. Corn is up ⅛@¼c. Oats are practically unchanged. Provisions are up 5@7½c.

Settlement in the wheat pit throughout the entire session was fearful. At the opening May was off ⅝@⅞c to ⅝@⅞c at $1 15¾@1 16⅛. The initial weakness was due largely to a sharp decline at Liverpool, resulting from bearish advices as to crops in Argentina. Another factor, however, that had considerable influence was the well protected condition of the winter wheat in the United States, reports from the west and southwest being unanimous in the assertion that the heavy snow of the past 48 hours would be a great benefit to the crop. The bulls found little to encourage them in the cash situation, there being only a light demand for cash wheat in all markets. Rumor that a cargo of wheat had actually been refused in Europe and ordered sent back to America was an additional source of discomfort to them. About the only item of bullish tenor was the continued light receipts in the northwest. During the greater part of the session pit trade was very active, and early in the day there was considerable selling by commission houses on stop loss orders. After trading was well under way the market rallied somewhat on fairly liberal purchases by a leader of the longs. May advancing to $1 ... @1 16¾. When this support was withdrawn the market yielded to the general bearishness, May dropping to $1 15¾. Some recovery was made on renewed buying by the same operator, but the market closed easy. Final quotations on May wheat at $1 16¼@1 16⅜. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 51,400 bushels. Primary receipts were 431,600 bushels, compared with 176,000 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 320 cars, against 304 cars last week, and 440 cars a year ago.

Small receipts and light country purchases furnished the incentive of fair buying of corn by commission houses, resulting in a firm market. May opened unchanged at 44⅜c, sold up to 44¾c, and closed at 44⅝@44¾c. Local receipts were 104 cars, with one of contract grade.

The firmness of corn had a steadying effect on the oats market. The volume of business was extremely light. Scalpers did most of the trading. May opened ⅛@⅜c lower at 30¾c to 31c, sold up to 31⅛@31¼c, and closed at the highest point. Local receipts were 68 cars.

The provisions market experienced a considerable revival of interest, trading today being of a fairly large volume. The feature was the strength of hogs, although commission houses made substantial purchases. Comparatively light receipts of hogs were the principal bull factor. At the close May pork and ribs were each up 7½c at $12 70 and $6 72½, respectively. Lard was 5c higher at $6 87½@6 90.

SAY POLYGAMY IS DYING OUT

TIME WILL SOLVE QUESTION

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Three witnesses for the defense in the Smoot case today testified that polygamy is dying out in Utah so rapidly that there is no need of prosecutions. It was declared that the younger Mormons are all opposed to polygamy, and that if they thought it was being taught there would be a revolution in the church. It was admitted that Senator Smoot had to get the consent of the church to become a candidate for senator, but only in the form of a leave of absence from his church duties, and it was declared that he could have been nominated and elected without it.

J. W. N. Whitecotton, an attorney of Provo, Utah, resumed his review of political affairs in Utah. No effort was made by the church, he said, to restrict the political liberties of the people generally or of any individuals, but it claimed the right to receive the time and energies of men who have been elected to important church offices. The deduction he drew was that the church did not try to prevent its members from engaging in politics without the consent of the church, but that when certain members accepted important church offices the church had a right to prevent such members from accepting other offices which would take their time.

Gentiles Hold the Offices.

It was shown by the witness that Gentiles had always held the most important state offices, and that Gentile judges who had been active in sentencing Mormons for polygamous cohabitation received as large a vote as other candidates when they came up for re-election. "I think the decided sentiment of the Mormon people in Utah is hostile to polygamy," said Mr. Whitecotton.

As to the sentiment in the state in regard to the prosecutions for polygamy, Mr. Whitecotton said there had been a great deal said of an understanding that there should be no prosecutions, but that he had never heard of such a thing, and did not believe it existed. Continuing, he said:

"But I believe the people generally don't want to stir this thing up and start it smelling again—it has not a good odor. Women went into polygamy—a delusion, probably—because they thought plural marriage a religious duty. The church prescribes that if a plural wife gets a divorce she cannot be married to another husband and the people realize that if she is cut off by prosecutions from her only protector, she and her children are in a precarious condition. The sympathy of Gentiles and young Mormons opposed to polygamy is all for the women. I never heard of any sympathy for a male polygamist, and don't believe there ever has been such sympathy for one unless, perhaps, he should happen to be married to three or four viragoes."

Wives Not Exhibited in Public.

Mr. Worthington asked concerning the attitude of polygamists in public toward their plural wives, and the witness said that he had not known of any case where these wives were exhibited in public.

"What is the standing of Senator Smoot as to his morals and upright character?" asked Senator Foraker.

"No man in the state or out of it stands better," said Mr. Whitecotton.

The witness, when asked if President Joseph F. Smith had said that if he observed the custom which prevails generally on the subject of marriage relations "he would be eternally damned," replied it would not surprise him, because Smith is a "thorough fanatic." The witness said the act of Apostle Merrill, who is the husband of several wives, performing the ceremony uniting his son to a plural wife met his hearty disapprobation, and that the "whole outfit ought to be prosecuted."

H. E. Booth of Salt Lake, a non-Mormon lawyer, who has been active in the politics of his state, asserted that the Mormon church, as a church, did not interfere in political affairs, but that individuals took an interest in politics in the same way that other citizens did. As to polygamy, the witness said:

Mormons Oppose Polygamy.

"I believe polygamy is as dead as slavery. Ninety-eight per cent of Mormons themselves are opposed to plural marriages."

Asked by Senator Dubois if his sympathy for children born in polygamy "is great enough to put a stop to bringing them into the world," the witness replied:

"It is, if a stop could be put to it without vesting penalties and hardships on those women who bring them into the world. If you can suggest a way to meet this problem, I will adopt it and carry it out."

Arthur Pratt, warden of the Utah penitentiary, and a son of Orson Pratt, who was authority on church affairs, testified that he had never been a member of the Mormon church. He declared that from 1875, when he arrested George Reynolds, and down to 1890 he had arrested more Mormons on charges of polygamous cohabitation than any other officer. He said the arrests entailed a great deal of suffering among the Mormon people, and that it was the women and children who got the worst of the prosecutions. He said that there could be no question as to the decrease of polygamy since 1890, and added that, as supervisor of the census, he was in a position to have the best information on that subject.

STRANGE TROOPS ARE DRILLED BY JAPANESE

New Base Has Been Established for Them on the Island of Liuka.

HUANSHAN, Jan. 13.—(Via Mukden)—Chinese who have arrived here from Yin-Kow report that Field Marshal Oyama has been since December inspecting troops. They also report that a Japanese military base has been established on the island of Liuka, and that many troops are arriving there who do not resemble Japanese.

According to the Chinese, the troops at Yin-Kow are being drilled in artillery practice. There are 50,000 men there and it is expected as soon as they are trained there will be sent to the front. It is reported also there is concentration of troops at Lomitan, east of the railway, and that large bodies of troops are forming on each flank of the Japanese position.

The Japanese are building numerous armored trucks for the railroad, and armored wagons for automobile quick forces. They are also buying large quantities of wire and grindstones for putting a battle edge on sabres, all of which are being moved to the front.

Much drilling is proceeding at all parts of the Japanese line. Many new troops have been moved into position, and received their first baptism of fire on January 7. Since November 2, the Russian casualties have amounted to seven officers and 183 soldiers killed, while 42 wounded officers and 947 wounded men have been sent back to Russia.

ALTOONA, Jan. 13.—A sleighing party was run down by a car on the Logan valley trolley line between Altoona and East Altoona early today and every member of the party of 21 was more or less injured. Two members of the party, Frank Golloway, aged 18, ribs fractured; Luther Glinder, aged 18, scalp lacerated, were seriously hurt. The party was returning from Bellwood. As it approached East Altoona the driver saw the car approaching rapidly.

"We'll beat that car," he cried, whipping up his horses. Every one saw the car, but the motorman could not see the sleigh, as it carried no lights. When the driver pulled on the track ahead of the car it was too late to stop. The sleigh was hit with terrific force and the 21 members were hurled in every direction. The driver mounted a horse and disappeared, fearing violence.

MAY SUCCEED GALLITZIN.

Probable Official Position of Prince Sviatopolk-Mirsky Upon Retirement.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 14.—2:15 a. m. The rumor that the resignation of the ministry of the interior by Prince Sviatopolk-Mirsky has been accepted is without foundation. The entire ministerial situation remains unchanged. It may be stated, however, that when Prince Sviatopolk-Mirsky retires he will probably replace Prince Gallitzin in the governorship of the Caucasus.

The removal of Grand Duke Sergius from the military governorship of Moscow and M. Trepoff's departure for the front both tend to relieve the situation at Moscow considerably, as removing two personalities extremely distasteful to the populace there.

Fireman Kicked by Horse.

David E. Mahan, a fireman at No. 8 engine house, East End, was kicked by a horse and badly injured at the station last evening. He was trying a new horse when the animal pushed him up against the wall, knocked him down and kicked him in the head. Six stitches were required to close the wound. He was taken to his home, 7311 Susquehanna street.

CABLEGRAM PUTS OUT LIGHT OF HER LIFE

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—A cablegram announcing the death of Frank C. Johnston has ended the romance of Miss Beatrice H. Steele of Brooklyn, who is in England to purchase her trousseau. The young couple were to be married in Manila this spring, where Johnston was to build a street railway for his employers. Miss Steele was to return home in February, then sail for Manila from San Francisco.

Miss Steele is the daughter of Bartholomew Steele, a wealthy man living at Gates Head-on-Tyne, England. She lived with her aunt, Mrs. Margaret E. Walters of Brooklyn. New Year's day Mrs. Walters got a letter written by Johnston from San Francisco. It said overwork in Manila had brought on lung trouble. "I am fighting manfully," the letter ran, "and hope to recover in the pure air of New Mexico."

A telegram came yesterday from the father of the young man, who resides at Franklin, Pa., saying his son had passed away at Fort Bayard, N. M., and that his last word was a message of love to Miss Steele. Mrs. Walters cabled Miss Steele the news.

THE THREE RIVERS

The stage of water at Davis Island dam at 9 o'clock last night was 13.4 feet and the river was falling.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, Jan. 13.—At 6 p. m. today the Ohio river at Cincinnati was 14.9 feet and rising. The cold snap which passed over this part of the country made some new shore ice and tended to freeze the floating ice which was softened some by the thaws of the few days previous. A report of a 10-foot rise reached here today from Pittsburgh. Capt. Charles J. Menges received word today that his firm would send out 50 barges and 60 coalboats under the power of 12 towboats. All this coal will be brought as far south at least as Cincinnati. A 10-foot rise is reported at Charleston, W. Va., on the Kanawha. Clear and growing colder with light snow.

WHEELING—River 10 feet 5 inches and rising 10 inches an hour. About 20 feet expected. Keystone State due for Cincinnati at midnight. River full of ice, which prevents local packets from resuming before Monday. Cloudy and colder with light snow.

LOUISVILLE—River rising; in canal, 6.7; on falls, 4.5; below locks, 12.9. Cloudy and cold.

MORGANTOWN—River 17 feet 6 inches and falling. Snowy and colder.

WARREN—River frozen. Fair and cold.

POINT PLEASANT—River 10 feet 6 inches and rising, and full of heavy ice.

GALLIPOLIS—River 14 feet and rising slowly. Ice still too heavy for boats. Cloudy and cold with heavy snow.

GREENSBORO—River 17 feet 6-10 inches and falling. Cold and snow. Navigation suspended.

PARKERSBURG—River 10 feet 5-10 inches and rising slowly. Cold and cloudy. Snowing tonight. No boats.

STEUBENVILLE—River 10 feet 9 inches and rising. Cloudy and cold. Ice running. Up, Volunteer, railroading her town, and Coal City, light.

PACKET LINES STILL TIED UP.

No Boat for Cincinnati Now Until Next Saturday.

Owing to the fact that all the packet boats are at the lower end of the river there will be no packet navigation from Pittsburgh for several days. The Keystone State, for Cincinnati, got out yesterday at 1 o'clock. The Kanawha will leave Tuesday for Charleston. There will be no more boats for Cincinnati until next Saturday, when the Virginia will be the southern bound boat. The Queen City, which was expected to come up and get out of here next Wednesday, will not make the run on account of the great fields of ice which are moving out with the flood.

The Greenland, Bessie Smith, Lorena and other craft in the local packet trade, are all down below and it will be several days before they can get up here. Consequently it will be some days before packet navigation can be resumed regularly.

Harbor No. 25 was to have held a special meeting yesterday, but the rise carried away its members and it did not secure a quorum.

The viewers in the condemnation proceedings to secure more land along Second avenue for lock No. 1, have filed a report in the United States courts. They award the property owners $17,000.

NIEDRINGHAUS WAS AN AGENT FOR BREWERS

Gave in His Name Campaign Fund of $21,000 Obtained from Them, It Is Said.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 13.—William P. Lightholder, deputy recorder of deeds, appeared before the senate committee in answer to a subpoena ordering him to produce a certified copy of the expense account filed by the Republican state committee. He took the original copy, which showed as its largest item the sum of $21,237 contributed by T. K. Niedringhaus. The total of the contributions as given was $57,483. The report was figured by T. K. Niedringhaus, acting treasurer.

E. C. Brockmyer, who was a clerk at the Republican headquarters, gave testimony relating to the charge that St. Louis brewers contributed the $21,000 which Chairman Niedringhaus of the Republican state committee credited to himself in his report of the receipts and expenditures of the campaign. He testified that Adolphus Busch, a prominent brewer, had given Mr. Niedringhaus at one time before the election a check for $2,500, and at another time $5,000, and that he contributed $5,000 after the election toward the liquidation of the deficit which existed.

In a sworn statement Niedringhaus says while at a dinner attended by Vice President Fairbanks the indebtedness of the state committee was discussed and it was agreed to make good the sum. He claims there was no agreement to use influence on state legislation as the result of the guarantee, and had the Republicans failed to carry Missouri he would have been personally responsible for half the $25,000 subscribed.

JUDGE SWAYNE WAS DEFENDED

BITTER DEBATE IN CONGRESS

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Further consideration was given in the house of representatives today to the impeachment charges against Judge Charles Swayne of the Northern district of Florida. Mr. Littlefield of Maine claimed there had been "no hunting or hounding" of Judge Swayne until, as a result of the O'Neal contempt case, O'Neal sought to get his revenge on Judge Swayne, and charged that since O'Neal died his friends were to an extent carrying on the prosecution.

Mr. Littlefield discussed at length the action of Judge Swayne in the O'Neal contempt case. He read from the opinion of Judges Parlee, Shelby and McCormick of the circuit court of appeals, in which Judge Swayne was sustained, and in most vigorous manner declared that if Judge Swayne was to be impeached for acting as he did in the case of O'Neal, the three judges named also should be impeached. Mr. Littlefield uttered the prayer that his tongue would cleave to the roof of his mouth and his right hand forget its cunning before he lent himself by any act toward the consummation of "this infamous legacy of hatred, malice and revenge."

Lawyers Defend Judge.

Replying to a demand by Mr. Gillett of California to state the opinion of the lawyers and citizens of Florida regarding the honesty, morality, integrity and ability of Judge Swayne prior to the O'Neal contempt case, Mr. Powers said the evidence showed that the agitation against Swayne had been on for years. He said, however, that several members of the Florida Bar association had written the committee commending Judge Swayne for his honesty and integrity. Mr. Parker supported the charge against Judge Swayne of violating the law regarding his place of residence.

An earnest plea for a separate vote on each of the 12 articles of impeachment was made by Mr. Parker of New Jersey, one of the signers of the minority report. He said that except in the case of Judge Swayne's expense account, the alleged impeachable acts complained of were so old and stale that they should not now be revived.

"It makes me hot," ejaculated Mr. Parker, "to find the persecution that has been lavished upon this judge."

Money Deliberately Stolen.

Mr. Parker made some allusions to other judges having charged up the full $10 a day allowance for expenses, which brought on a lively colloquy between himself and Mr. Jenkins of Wisconsin, chairman of the judiciary committee. Mr. Parker impetuously said that such evidence had been offered the committee and ruled out.

"It was not offered," retorted Mr. Jenkins, who added it was no defense of Judge Swayne "to show that 10 other judges have deliberately stolen $6,000 out of the treasury of the United States."

Mr. Lacey of Iowa injected into the debate the statement that treasury officials always had regarded the $10 a day as a fixed charge for expenses of judges.

The house non-concurred in the senate amendments to the Philippine government bill, and sent the bill to conference. The speaker appointed as conferees on the part of the house, Messrs. Copper, Tawney, Crumpacker, Jones and Maddox.

The senate passed the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill and also a number of private pensions bills.

WIDOW M'CLOY'S VERSE.

Judge Macfarlane Happens to See It and Directs the District Attorney to Take Action.

Mrs. Sarah A. McCloy, who has been for some time bothering the judges of the common pleas courts by trying to file papers entering suits against them, has at last succeeded in attracting the attention of Judge J. A. Macfarlane, who sent word yesterday to the district attorney that the woman be looked after, as she was undoubtedly crazy.

A short time ago Attorney J. McBride, who was appointed auditor of her estate, sent her the notice of court of the hearing in her trial. She returned the notice to McBride yesterday with a vulgar verse written on it, showing her contempt of the court and its action. McBride showed the message to Judge Macfarlane.
